Just Five More Days

Each year at Christmas-time The Times makes an appeal for underprivileged children overseas, through the good offices of the Unitarian Service Committee.

Since these campaigns began a decade ago, generous readers have donated close to $100,000. This money has gone to provide barley gruel, powdered milk, dried codfish and medical supplies for youngsters in Korea, India, Hong Kong and Greece.

We are grateful to our readers for their warm support. It is evident that they share with us the belief that we Canadians, living in our affluent society, denied very few creature comforts, should pause at this time to think of the impoverished, the cold, the sick and the hungry in far-off lands.

Now just five days remain before we send our annual Christmas Eve message to that dynamic little lady, Lotta Hitschmanova, advising her of the response of Victorians to the 1963 Korean Kid's appeal.

As of today, the fund has passed $7,700. We hope to realize $10,000.

This hope is summarized in the anonymous Christmas greeting—or is it a prayer?—discovered in Europe at the end of the Second World War:

"We wish you bread,
A pair of shoes,
A shelter, warm and bright;
Fit work to do,
The truth to know
And Peace, throughout the night."

Duncan Youths Sing For Korean Suppers

Last week 350 students in Duncan sang for their "kumye." Pronounced koo-may, it means supper in Korean.

That is exactly what the students did; they sang for Korean suppers.

They were the Festival Singers of Mount Prevost School and choir from Duncan Elementary and Queen Margaret's Girls' School. They chose Korea as most in need of their proceeds this year which totalled $36.00.

NOT FORGOTTEN

This Christmas the children in Korea will not enjoy the feast of food and gifts enjoyed by Canadians but they will know they are not forgotten.

Not only are other children thinking about them, but they are doing something to help.

Alvin and Carol are two other youngsters in Victoria who are sharing their Christmas with Korean kiddies.

They wrote: "We would like to go and have breakfast with Santa but mummy said how would you like to give your breakfast to some little boy and girl in Korea? So we are sending $2 for two little children, in Korea."

CZECH HOCKEY TEAM PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

First visit to B.C. of Czechoslovakia's national hockey team is expected to draw a sellout crowd at Memorial Arena tonight.

They will play Canadian Olympics at 8:30 p.m.

Only a few hundred seats were unsold at noon today. "At the rate they are going," an Arena spokesman said, "it should be a sellout."

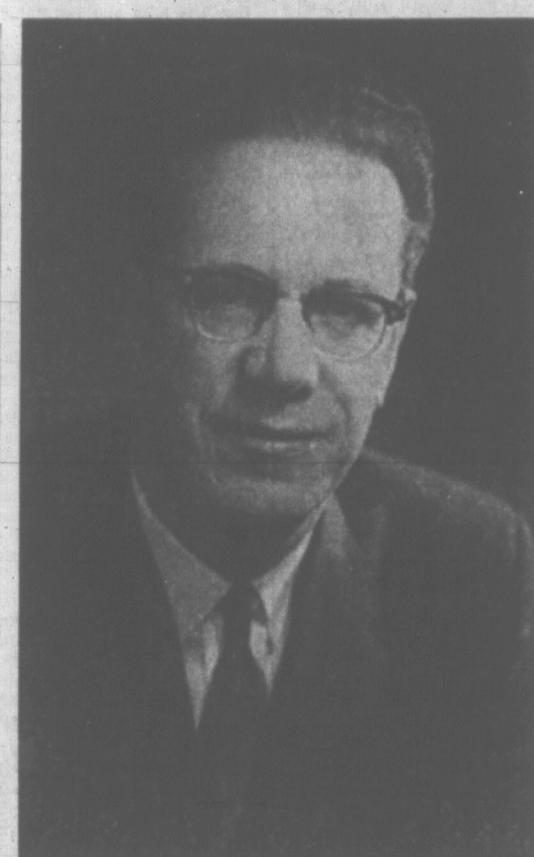

Because of fire regulations there will be no standing room admissions sold.

The Czechoslovaks were due in Victoria at mid-afternoon after being delayed at Vancouver because of fog.

The team opened its 11-game tour of Canada Tuesday night in Calgary by defeating a Southern Alberta Intermediate all-star team 7-4. (See story page 12.)

PROTEST STABBING

Negro Students Storm Moscow's Red Square

MOSCOW (AP) — Several hundred Negro students from Ghana and other African nations stormed into Red Square today right under Premier Khrushchev's office windows, fought with police and tried to break into the Kremlin.

The students said they were protesting the fatal stabbing of a student from Ghana by a Russian last Friday.

The Negroes broke past barricades into Red Square, where Russians march on May Day and on the day of the October revolution. But the scene was more reminiscent of the wild days of revolution in 1917.

The students bore a sign showing a knife plunged into the head of an African. Another sign declared: "Friend today, the devil tomorrow."

"Moscow is a second Alabama," shouted one student.

The students fought police all the way to Red Square from the Ghanaian Embassy a mile away, where they first gathered.

STORM BARRICADE

They stormed over a barricade of Soviet trucks at the entrance to Red Square fighting police on top of the trucks and underneatn.

The big gates of Spasky Tower, the main entrance from the Kremlin into Red Square, banged shut as students rolled over police opposition and tried to get into the Kremlin.

They stormed past the office of Khrushchev. They were separated from his office by the big red brick wall of the Kremlin. Whether he was inside his office was not known.

Policemen apparently at no time used their guns to control the students. Instead they wheeled out loud speakers appealing for them to go home.

"Red Square is closed," one of the sound trucks blared out. But the students paid no attention.

Fifty police blocked off the area around Spasky Gate in Red Square. Other police circulated through the square, some with portable loud speakers, asking the crowds to clear the square.

CLEAR OUT SHOPPERS

Shortly after 2 p.m., crowds of shoppers who had swarmed into Red Square were driven out along with foreign correspondents.

People continued to pile into adjoining streets, never having seen an angry demonstration of foreigners against Russians.

The students remained in the square for a time and were reinforced by others who came, apparently carrying a message of protest. They made their way up to Spasky gate, where a Kremlin official came out and said a delegation of 10 would be received by the ministry of higher education.

I'VE GOT A JOB FOR YOU TO DO'

MONTREAL (CP) — Two marine engineers testified today that Hal C. Banks, president of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.), told them in 1957 of plans to have a rival trade union organizer beaten up.

The testimony came at Banks' preliminary hearing on charges of conspiracy to assault Capt. Henry Francis Walsh.

Capt. Walsh, formerly of Welland, Ont., and now of Montreal's suburban Chomedy, was a business agent for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild (CLC) when he was beaten up Aug. 18, 1957, in an Owen Sound, Ont., hotel parking lot.

The students bore a sign showing a knife plunged into the head of an African. Another sign declared: "Friend today, the devil tomorrow."

"There's a guy who's been running off his mouth about this union—I've got a job for you to do."

Greeves testified that Banks said "that . . . Walsh he's been around taking my meals, he asked me to get his son a job and now he's up there calling me all kinds of a gangster and thug."

Gordon Denies 'Deal' With U.S. on Interest

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Gordon emphatically denied in the Commons today a suggestion that Canada and the United States have a "gentlemen's agreement" to keep interest rates in Canada close to the level of rates in the U.S.

However, he said in reply to questions from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that it is the Canadian government's policy to keep the spread between Canadian and American interest rates as narrow as possible.

"And I hope it will be the policy to keep the spread as narrow as possible in the months ahead," Mr. Gordon added.

Mr. Diefenbaker noted a recent report in the New York Times to the effect that Canada is expanding its money supply because of a gentlemen's agreement with the U.S. to keep interest rates at the U.S. rate level.

"Had Canada such an agreement with the U.S.?" the opposition leader asked.

"The answer is no," Mr. Gordon replied after stating that policy is to keep Canadian rates as low as possible and that the spread had been narrowed in recent months.

Fifty police blocked off the area around Spasky Gate in Red Square. Other police circulated through the square, some with portable loud speakers, asking the crowds to clear the square.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

That sprightly little Vancouver magazine, "About Town" features an interesting interview with former Victorian Art Roberts and his auctioneering business. Glancing through the article, we boggled slightly at this sentence: "In 1950, during the first 'Porclight' campaign, the Maynard people brought in close to $200,000 one evening for the Victoria Community Chest."

Just to refresh our memory, we checked the files. Here are the facts:

Art Roberts was co-chairman of the 1950 drive with John MacCormac, a city broker who has since left Victoria. The "one-night Porclight blitz" realized $69,000.

Total sum raised during the campaign was $161,000.

And the money wasn't raised by Maynard's, but by a volunteer army of 2,000 Victoria citizens.

Retired deputy agriculture minister William MacGillivray says his knowledge of Gaelic saved him from the unpleasant side of agriculture many years ago.

As a young civil servant, he was sent to the Hebrides to check sheep for disease, and incurred the wrath of the island farmers.

"They were all set to throw me into a sheep dip until I spoke to them in Gaelic," he says. "Then we got along a bit better."

Saturday's big bird count by members of Victoria Natural History Society reminds us of the time the rock wren paid a rare visit to Victoria and settled in a Fairfield garden.

Birders for miles around descended on the garden, and crept around like panthers, seeking a closeup view of the tiny bird as it perched on a mossy rock.

The rock wren stayed for close on three hours, by which time the garden was crowded with enthusiasts. It then moved to the garden next door, which happened to be that of Alan Poynter, chairman of the group which will conduct Saturday's annual bird count in this area.

Festive season one-acter:

Scene, living room. Time, 10 p.m. Curtain opens. Man and wife are discovered. Wife is addressing Christmas cards. Man is discovering the spirit of Yuletide, 26-ounce size.

Wife: What's the address of your brother in New York?

Man: Sorry, don't remember.

Wife: Then how can I send him a Christmas card?

Man: Don't worry, I'll find out. (He reaches for the telephone.)

Wife: What are you doing?

Man: I'm phoning my brother in New York to ask him his address so we can send him a Christmas card.

(As the curtain falls, the sound of Kerpow is heard.)

George McMorris is a man who likes to get around, and he has various means of doing so.

In his regular line of work, he gets around in the briny deep, because his job is captain of HMCS Grilse, Canada's only submarine.

On shore, he is a sports car aficionado, and drives one of the rarer imports.

But since Grilse started a lengthy refit which is keeping her in drydock and her boss ashore, George has taken to another form of transportation.

Bicycle.

This not only gets him around Dockyard efficiently and economically, it also keeps his waistline down and his agility up.

Ever try to return a salute while riding a bicycle?

One Christmas card we always look forward to is sent by Montreal author Leslie Roberts, who makes his greeting a topical essay on Canadian affairs. One paragraph from this year's card reads:

"A tubby little man named Chaput announced his intention of separating La Province de Quebec from Canada, from the rest of North America and, for all I know, from the World. In doing so he ran out of money and quit eating, which is standard practice for anybody who runs out of money in a democratic country. M'sieu Chaput reversed the accepted process, however. By going hungry he took in $100,000, which he spent with alacrity. Forty pounds lighter, but alert enough to know a good thing when he sees it, he then undertook to starve himself into a bankroll of $1,000,000, thereby separating his supporters from the rest of their savings. That Was The Separatism That Was."

We get suggestions. Readers are trying to help us name the Roundabout and M. E. Padfield writes:

Ray Johnson, 3754 Wilkinson, feels qualified to suggest Slot-O-Mat because "we do have to get into the right slot to be automatically directed into the correct lane," and because he has driven two million miles in 41 years here.

"It's time we did something about the . . . I think we will," Greaves quoted Banks as saying. Greaves said he was still in Banks' office when the latter called in Eldon (Jack) Richardson and Jack Kaspar and told them they were going on a trip that would take about 10 days.

Today's other main witness was John Joseph Wood, 48, a former N.A.M.E. agent who now lives in Verdun, Que.

He testified he was in Banks' office when the SIU president talked about "this Captain Walsh" and said he was "going to have this fellow's mouth shut."

STUDENTS

Continued from Page 1: then headed for the ministry with their petition of complaint. By 3 p.m., Red Square had been cleared. The barricades were withdrawn and the demonstration was over.

It was the first such demonstration by foreign students here directed at the Russians. Ghanaian students demonstrated last February in Communist Bulgaria, claiming racial persecution. Students have demonstrated in Moscow in front of the Belgian Embassy and others, usually in connection with the Congo.

The Belgian Embassy was almost sacked two years ago and the U.S. Embassy was smeared with ink in October, 1962, at the time of the Cuba affair. Students made up part of that demonstration.

Students said they prepared for today's demonstration by sending telegrams to Ghanaian students in Odessa, Kharkov, and other university towns asking them to come to Moscow. Each was given a red head band, a sign of mourning in Ghana.

Exposure Cause Of Death

MOSCOW (Reuters)—John B. Elliott, Ghana's ambassador to the Soviet Union, told a press conference today that Asare Addo, a Ghanaian student whose death touched off a massive demonstration by African students here today, died "from exposure."

"I do not know about his being killed but he has died and he died of exposure," he said. Elliott said the body was found on the outskirts of Moscow by a passerby last Friday morning after Addo was seen off the previous night by African friends in Moscow.

He stressed that today's demonstration was African and not just Ghanaian. As far as he knew it was a peaceful demonstration.

Asked about the students motives for demonstrating, he said: "I believe they want some sort of positive assurance that the boy wasn't murdered."

Relations between African and Soviet students were "cordial" but "naturally like all students they like to take a punch at each other," he added jokingly.

The Ghanaian embassy gave the dead man's name as Edmund Asare-Addo and said he was about 29.

Boy Badly Hurt In Car Mishap On Amity Drive

A 13-year-old boy was seriously injured this morning when hit by a car as he walked along Amity Drive in North Saanich on his way to school.

Brian Benn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Benn, 8593 Emard Terrace, Saanichton, underwent surgery at Rest Haven Hospital for pelvic injuries and a serious leg cut. He is reported in only fair condition.

Brian was walking to a school bus which was to take him to North Saanich Secondary School, when the accident occurred.

Driver of the car involved was Richard Turley, 8720 East Saanich Road, Saanichton, police said. The accident occurred shortly after 7:30 a.m.

POST OFFICE ZOOMS BEYOND MILLION MARK FOR TWO DAYS

Victoria Post Office has broken its record by going over the million mark for a two-day mail.

With local mail deadline Tuesday, the Post Office processed 1,035,000 pieces of mail Monday and Tuesday.

This is 200,000 more than the same days last year's mark when 830,000 pieces went through the office.

Highest amount ever was Tuesday, with 558,000 pieces.

Postmaster Allan Davies says mail is flowing smoothly despite the increase, and all mail posted by Tuesday will reach its destination by Christmas.

JOHNSON

Continued from Page 1: his Texas ranch with his family next Sunday evening or early next Monday to spend the Christmas holidays. The president said he "might even go hunting" on the ranch, and that he has a desire to "go into the hills and commune with myself."

Johnson said he could not tell yet whether the federal budget he will send to Congress next month will top $100,000,000 because many decisions have yet to be made. And he said the new budget will include money for "new programs to meet new situations." He said he would "not be content to sit in our rocking chair and enjoy the status quo."

The president believes his visit to the United Nations Tuesday was "very productive . . . and created better understanding."

Johnson announced that Dr. Walter Heiler, his chief economic adviser, had just told him that the U.S. national economy, as measured by the gross national product, was now passing the $600,000,000 mark. Johnson termed the "about as fine a Christmas present as could come to the American people."

Johnson hopes to propose new programs for a broad assault on poverty. And he hopes Congress, next year, will consider a comprehensive farm program.

—Discussing his attitude toward press conferences, Johnson said that one day he might hold an office session, the next day a televised press conference and on a third day invite reporters to a "coffee hour" conference of the sort he held on Dec. 7—his first meeting with reporters.

—Johnson said he has no plan to seek any legislation on presidential succession or disability. He said he has "a complete understanding and agreement" who would succeed to the presidency should anything happen to him and Johnson described this agreement as exactly the same one he entered into with the late president Kennedy.

In the absence of a vice-president, the next in line of succession to the presidency is House Speaker John W. McCormack.

INTEREST INTERESTS BENNETT

Premier Bennett said Tuesday the B.C. government will study interest with interest.

But he wouldn't commit the government to action controlling rates of interest charged by money lenders.

This field now becomes a provincial one after a ruling by the Supreme Court of Canada upholding a 50-year old law in Ontario.

"We will study this with interest," Mr. Bennett said.

PENSIONS

B.C. Eager For Start Of New Plan

Premier Bennett said Tuesday B.C. is anxious for the federal government to launch its new pension plan and doesn't agree with Quebec's stand.

The premier said he does not believe a constitutional amendment is necessary to include widows' and disability pensions in the social security scheme.

Reports earlier from Eastern Canada said Quebec Premier Jean Lesage threatened to veto a necessary amendment to the British North America Act unless Ottawa boosted the overall pension contribution from 2 to 4 per cent.

"I hope 2 per cent is high enough," Mr. Bennett told reporters. "I don't think any amendment to the constitution is needed. We are anxious for the federal government to proceed."

Municipal Projects Approved

The B.C. government has approved nine projects worth $2,782,188 for aid from Ottawa's new municipal development and loan fund.

Federal approval is required, too, but a municipal affairs official here said it would just be a formality.

He said a flood of applications is expected for loans under the new federal scheme.

B.C. has been allocated $35,700,000 for municipal projects.

Loans of up to two thirds of construction costs are available at a current interest rate of 5% per cent. The rate is subject to change quarterly.

The projects approved include Central Saanich's municipal hall, costing $34,000. All the others are from the mainland.

PARIS (CP)—The diplomatic discovery of Communist China was a feature of a singularly sedate NATO ministerial meeting which ended Tuesday night—a day ahead of schedule.

The Soviet Union—always named as the adversary of the West at these affairs—picked up some sort of grudging respectability when State Secretary Dean Rusk of the United States said Moscow's policy should prevail over that of Red China.

The West should explore every way of promoting coexistence with Russia as a check on the militant attitude of Peking towards the West, said Rusk.

Never before has the topic of Communist China cropped up so frequently at a NATO meeting. Britain's Foreign Minister R. A. Butler said the Sino-Soviet dispute—the battle of the Communist giants—was obviously important to the West, but it would be a mistake to imagine Moscow was about to be driven into the West's embrace.

It said the ministers "expressed the hope that Soviet policy would not limit the possibilities of making progress... and reaching solutions for the problems which are the real causes of tension in the world, in particular those of Berlin and Germany."

No Intervention In Ideology Dispute'

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. state department officials said Tuesday that State Secretary Dean Rusk is against any Western intervention in the ideological dispute between the Soviet Union and Red China.

But they said the Soviet Union's efforts imperfect as the may be—to solve cold-war problems through peaceful co-existence obviously are preferable to the tough line of Red China.

The officials, authorized to speak, gave this explanation to reporters after complaining of what they termed substantial misinterpretation by the press in reporting what Rusk said to the NATO ministerial meeting in Paris Monday.

They objected to any inference that Rusk had asked the Western allies to help Moscow in its battle with Peking. Past U.S. policy has been to stand aloof from the inside-the-bloc conflict, and Rusk's position was described as representing no change.

BERLINERS QUEUE FOR YULE PASSES

BERLIN (UPI)—Thousands of West Berliners waited for hours in bitter cold today to obtain passes for Christmas visits to Communist East Berlin for the first time in three years.

Arrangements to permit an estimated 800,000 West Berliners, with relatives in the Communist-controlled eastern sector to cross the Red-built anti-refugee wall for Christmas were completed Tuesday.

The East Germans opened 12 offices in West Berlin today to process applications for the passes, being issued for the first time since the wall was built in August, 1961.

Each pass will be good for a one-day visit on any day from 7 a.m. to midnight, starting Thursday and ending Jan. 5. The visiting deadline is extended to 5 a.m. on New Year's Eve.

OMBUDSMAN to protect citizens' rights against government bureaucrats was called in motion introduced in Commons Monday by Douglas Fisher, NDP member for Port Arthur. Private member's motion was tabled out without a vote.

Health Standards

IN A RECENT REPORT OF A meeting between officers of the B.C. Hospital Association and Health Minister Eric Martin, the statement was made that relations between the two were "the best they have ever been." Earlier, Mr. Martin's protestations that B.C.'s infant mortality rate was among the lowest in Canada received some soothing-syrup support from certain complacent editorial writers.

The public must appreciate that assessments of this situation are not often forthcoming from the doctors. Privately, they say that per capita expenses for hospital operations in B.C. are woefully behind the rest of the nation, resulting in some of the lowest staffing standards on the continent. The Victoria Medical Association has notably refrained from public comment.

The fact is that the public has placed hospital affairs in the hands of the government, and Mr. Martin is now entrusted with upwards of $60 millions of the people's money annually for administration of health services. The public must therefore depend on public men for assurance; if doctors want to challenge the existing order, they must enter the political arena and this they have largely been unwilling to do.

One of the few who have spoken out is Dr. Ralph Adams, administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria, who believes that standards of health care in B.C. could be greatly improved. Last October, he brought in a report of the Patient Care Standards Committee which documented the areas of improvement needed. He was met with a torrent of threats and personal abuse.

But the Government has not brought forth a single statistic to dispute his report; has never commented on the study itself, has never published a similar study, comparing B.C. performance regarding hospitals with other geographic areas; and indeed has indicated that it has made no similar studies itself.

In a television interview incidental to the October meeting, Dr.

A Slur on Teen-Agers

THE TEEN-AGERS OF CANADA have a legitimate cause for complaint—against the CBC television show "Inquiry" as broadcast coast-to-coast Monday night.

The purpose of the show was to demonstrate the youngsters' reaction to the new, 18-year-old voting law. The teen-agers interviewed came through as a prize assembly of dolts. Ninety per cent of them could not name the Prime Minister of Canada. None could name all four parties in the federal House. None knew the name of the member representing his own riding.

Why was this? Because Jack Webster, who did the West Coast

Adams told of a B.C. hospital in which the infant mortality rate had been alarming, but refused to identify it. Mr. Martin accused the doctor of creating a "public mischief," and more recently has cited the national average figures to prove that B.C.'s record on infant mortality is good.

This is begging the question. Dr. Adams was not talking about averages; he was talking about individual hospital records, in which there were marked "peaks and valleys." All he was saying was that he knew of hospitals in B.C. (as do other doctors) where the record was substandard, and that with a program of continuous perinatal study as obtains in five other provinces, it could be improved.

In support of its case, the government produced World Health Organization figures to show that B.C.'s infant mortality rate of 23 per 1,000 was bettered by only nine other countries, and that the Netherlands led the list with 14 per 1,000.

But consider these figures for a moment. If B.C. could bring its standards up to those of the Netherlands—a relatively small country—there would be a saving of nine lives per thousand, or 315 in this province annually. Is this, then, a worthwhile target? Or must we agree with the editorialist who blandly suggested that all doubts about our standards "should be quickly dispelled?"

The public obviously wants to believe that its hospital standards are the highest attainable. It will undoubtedly get such assurances from the politicians, as long as they control the health services.

But when the health professions file reports, documenting the need for more money, more staff, and more research, they should be listened to with respect, and not greeted with abuse. Those members of the medical profession who "suffer in silence"—perhaps because of the threats of socialized medicine which loom large in their lives these days—must examine their own consciences, and support those courageous few who believe that public complacency on this vital matter is a dangerous delusion.

Mr. Lippmann asks his people to accept the new, unalterable facts of life, to act accordingly and to re-unite the Grand Alliance by reasonable persuasion where supremacy has lapsed.

Pays Piper But . . .

No doubt Mr. Lippmann's advice is sound. But as Canadians should know, because they know their neighbors, this is asking a great deal of them. For the Americans are now asked to accept supreme responsibility without corresponding freedom of action. The man who pays the piper cannot necessarily call the tune.

So long as the United States was paramount, or as paramount as any nation can ever be, it could assume, or thought it could assume, that its taxes, trade deficits, gold losses and military risks were more or less tolerable. If paramountcy cost a high price it was worth paying because it seemed to guarantee results. The supposed guarantee has lapsed with supremacy.

Hence, says Mr. Lippmann, President Johnson's problem is not to "continue" his predecessor's exact policies, because they were at a standstill when their author died, but to devise new policies for the new situation.

In devising them the president must not be too eager to launch new initiatives. He should await the initiatives of his allies and consider them quietly as they appear. The United States, in Mr. Lippmann's phrase, should not be the wiser but the wood.

Mr. Lippmann can easily give, and President Johnson can easily understand, such counsel, but what about the key factor in this huge equation? What end a policy as the United States has followed since the last war. For which it has received small thanks anywhere.

The British, in their time of paramount power, didn't expect to be popular and didn't care. The Americans are different. They love to be loved. For mysterious psychic reasons they hate to be hated and are hurt by the very criticism from the outside that they openly apply to themselves from the inside.

Given those qualities, and the world's frequently distorted image of the United States, the danger is not that it will turn isolationist but that it will turn sour.

As vaguely indicated by the foreign aid debate, that is a real and present danger. The Yanks won't go home, because they can't, but almost absent-mindedly they can deliver devastating political, economic or strategic blows all over the world.

Conternation

For instance, even the proposal to cut American forces in Germany by a few regiments provokes instant consternation. The proposal to cut imports of Canadian lumber and oil, even marginally, shakes this country to its boots.

It will be said that the American people are too enlightened to turn sour.

One hopes so, but what does a man like Senator Goldwater represent if not a souring attitude to foreigners? What is President Johnson's supreme task but an attempt to maintain the opposite attitude of his predecessor? How sure can we be that the president will succeed?

If American paramountcy was an unnatural and brief phase, as Mr. Lippmann argues, assuredly there is a worse possible alternative. To encourage that alternative by gleefully needling the United States for its mistake, instead of giving it a friend's honest, critical advice, to demand of it far more generosity and intelligence than its allies are prepared to supply, to insist that the Americans be more leader, and initiator than we are is not only unfair but highly dangerous. We are dealing with fellow men, not paragons.

"Our goal," said President Kennedy, "is to again influence history instead of merely observing it." Should the United States become an observer more than a leader, initiator and giver, men like General de Gaulle may think they have won a great victory for the time being. The long-term beneficiaries will be men like Messers. Khrushchev and Mao. The victims will be all of us.

It is agreed that the German attitude is somewhat complicated. He enjoys very great personal popularity. One reason is that the Germans are desperately anxious to bury their ancestral feud with the French. The other is that Mr. de Gaulle's tour of Germany was a most brilliant performance. He knew well that he was speaking to a deeply troubled nation which had probed the depths of humiliation and still felt that it was regarded by many in the West as a moral outcast.

Mr. de Gaulle's message was simple. He assured the Germans that they are a great people playing a great role in the defense of Europe. So they obviously are, but no one until Mr. de Gaulle (and afterwards Mr. Kennedy) had managed to appeal to them in quite this way.

But the German feeling for de Gaulle does not extend to various Gaullist policies. I did hear the "union of the fatherlands" concept defended in Bonn but the speaker appeared to be defending it not only against us but also against protesting Germans in our group. An exclusive European third force led by France is no more attractive to politically-minded Germans than a Common Market excluding Britain and Scandinavia is to the traders of Hamburg or the industrialists of other cities.

Nor do Mr. de Gaulle's authoritarian home policies much commend themselves to the Germans who fear that de Gaulle is likely to provoke the formation of a French Popular Front with Communist participation, a development which seems already to be taking shape.

Nevertheless every report of reduced North American commitments to NATO in Europe lends substance to de Gaulle's case. What the French are saying is that we cannot be counted upon to stay indefinitely in Germany or, in the crunch, to risk all in defense of Europe. It seems improbable that Mr. de Gaulle, by his own efforts, could sell the union-of-the-fatherlands concept to the German people. But unless we are very careful, we may do it for him.

Members of The Family

By MAURICE WESTERN

ON October 22 General Charles Foulkes, appearing before the special defence committee, argued strongly for drastic changes in Canada's role within NATO. The point to which he returned again and again was that European countries should be responsible for their own territorial defences. Accordingly, he thought the Canadian brigade should be pulled back into a reserve role and based ultimately in Canada.

The argument for Western putting less effort into Germany and more into the defence of the North Atlantic was essentially a military one but it was based in part on a political premise. "We were very quiet," said Mr. Foulkes, "in getting the Americans out of Canada and taking over our own defence, and I think we should look the same way at Europe and the Europeans, who are very anxious to take over their own territorial defence."

Elsewhere General Foulkes stressed the fact that Germany by 1969 will be completely free of restrictions. The Germans, with a free hand, would then be desirous, he thought, of raising their own forces.

On its face, the thesis is not implausible. The presence of foreign troops is often resented. Canadian memories of Aldershot were stirred some years ago by a flurry of sensational articles in our papers about the alleged misbehavior of Canadian servicemen in German towns.

Wherever we went in Germany, we asked people about the Foulkes thesis. We could find no particle of evidence to support it although we did learn that reports of the general's testimony had aroused something like panic in parts of Germany, especially in Soest, where the brigade was billeted with anxious calls from local townsfolk.

One German, a private citizen, listened to our questions with incredulity and then said: "We don't think of the Canadians as foreign troops. We think of them as members of the family."

Insults Costly

This family spirit is certainly in evidence at Soest. The brigade attaches the highest importance to its relations with the Germans. Incidents are very few because any soldier who insults a German civilian can be reasonably sure of 30 days.

It was a constant puzzle to this correspondent that in West Germany, a small, crowded country and the principal NATO theatre, Allied troops manage to be so inconspicuous. To find them, you have to go out looking for them. Even in West Berlin, you scarcely see a uniform along the Kurfurstendamm. We saw no drunkenness, no rowdiness by night and heard only praise for the splendid discipline of the forces guarding the city.

The Foulkes thesis, it seems to me, is based on a fantastic misreading of the German mind. For every West German the over-riding consideration is the nearness of the barbed wire and the Russian troops beyond. They are not interested in a "liberation" following a Communist invasion and they are at least as conscious as we are of the import of nuclear war.

What they want is the assurance of a NATO presence, including a Canadian presence, that if the Russians risk a movement (a stab, for example, at some close-to-the-border city such as Brunswick), they will be met immediately by forces competent to impose a halt and to win time for same decisions in Moscow.

Talk about reduced commitments in Germany is dangerous for another reason. It can only have the effect of increasing the weight of Mr. de Gaulle upon the Federal Republic.

They Like De Gaulle

The German attitude to de Gaulle is somewhat complicated. He enjoys very great personal popularity. One reason is that the Germans are desperately anxious to bury their ancestral feud with the French. The other is that Mr. de Gaulle's tour of Germany was a most brilliant performance. He knew well that he was speaking to a deeply troubled nation which had probed the depths of humiliation and still felt that it was regarded by many in the West as a moral outcast.

Mr. de Gaulle's message was simple. He assured the Germans that they are a great people playing a great role in the defense of Europe. So they obviously are, but no one until Mr. de Gaulle (and afterwards Mr. Kennedy) had managed to appeal to them in quite this way.

I did hear the "union of the fatherlands" concept defended in Bonn but the speaker appeared to be defending it not only against us but also against protesting Germans in our group. An exclusive European third force led by France is no more attractive to politically-minded Germans than a Common Market excluding Britain and Scandinavia is to the traders of Hamburg or the industrialists of other cities.

Nor do Mr. de Gaulle's authoritarian home policies much commend themselves to the Germans who fear that de Gaulle is likely to provoke the formation of a French Popular Front with Communist participation, a development which seems already to be taking shape.

Nevertheless every report of reduced North American commitments to NATO in Europe lends substance to de Gaulle's case. What the French are saying is that we cannot be counted upon to stay indefinitely in Germany or, in the crunch, to risk all in defense of Europe. It seems improbable that Mr. de Gaulle, by his own efforts, could sell the union-of-the-fatherlands concept to the German people. But unless we are very careful, we may do it for him.

Then, if they forward almost a full share of the teachers' time since so much of it must be devoted to teaching English and providing social training for the young immigrants.

This seems to mean that some of the immigrant youngsters will have to go out of their own districts to attend class because, on a residence basis, they would represent more than 30 per cent in the school nearest to them.

Then, if they forward almost a full share of the teachers' time since so much of it must be devoted to teaching English and providing social training for the young immigrants.

The theoretical and the practical have apparently clashed and a solution still has to be found.

OUR NEIGHBORS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

What Happens if the U.S. Turns Sour?

AS neighbors of the American people we Canadians are specially involved in a dictum laid down the other day by Walter Lippmann. And perhaps better than any other foreign people we should be able to understand the meaning of that dictum, its hopes and its dangers.

After his latest tour of Europe, Mr. Lippmann warns the United States that it no longer enjoys its almost unquestioned supremacy in the post-war years. Where it was once the single greatest power of the West, now there are several—not as great as the United States but great enough to create an entirely new division of power and basically alter all American calculations.

Mr. Lippmann asks his people to accept the new, unalterable facts of life, to act accordingly and to re-unite the Grand Alliance by reasonable persuasion where supremacy has lapsed.

Pays Piper But . . .

No doubt Mr. Lippmann's advice is sound. But as Canadians should know, because they know their neighbors, this is asking a great deal of them. For the Americans are now asked to accept supreme responsibility without corresponding freedom of action. The man who pays the piper cannot necessarily call the tune.

As vaguely indicated by the foreign aid debate, that is a real and present danger. The Yanks won't go home, because they can't, but almost absent-mindedly they can deliver devastating political, economic or strategic blows all over the world.

Disenchantment

Now a reduction in American foreign aid is a long way short of isolation but it must surely be taken as a large straw in the wind. It expresses a deep and growing disenchantment with the United States' true allies and its fair-weather friends. That is only a natural American reaction to the disenchantment of these allies and friends with the United States.

Everybody agrees—no one more heartily, or bitterly, than the world's deepest soul-searchers, the American people themselves—that the United States has been wrong about many things. The simple truth, however, is that no great power in all history has ever followed, by and large, so enlightened a course.

Other members of the Commonwealth, including new supposedly backward nations have emerged as nations in their own right and do not appear to suffer the lack of a flag or an anthem, nor do

O Tannenbaum

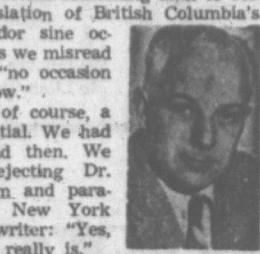

AROUND our house the Christmas tree has become one of those traditions we don't quite know how to shake.

Now it represents something akin to our improper translation of British Columbia's motto: "Splendor sine occasu," which, as we misread it, comes out "no occasion for all this snow."

Years ago, of course, a tree was essential. We had toddlers around then. We were busy rejecting Dr. Brock Chisholm and paraphrasing that New York Sun editorial writer: "Yes, Virginia, there really is."

Naturally a tree was part of the decor, necessary as a place under which the old gentleman whom the doctor wants to treat as a myth could put the presents.

Now the former small fry have grown up and scattered. There's no need any longer for jamming up the Virginia bit and all that jingle-bells stuff. And yet—

"I guess we'd better have a tree, a small one," Pat said. "Give the place the right atmosphere in case anyone drops in."

So I guess we'll have a tree, a small one, because tradition says so. But I chide myself for the eventual selection. I'll make at some city lot when all the good, symmetrical trees have been sold off.

Mine can't be symmetrical, not the way I want it. Mine will have to be fitted on a built-in sort of cabinet where the window seat used to be. If it is to be kept from spreading its limbs over guests sitting on the chesterfield, it has to be flat on two adjacent sides. These sides are pushed into the corner and the bushy part allowed to project a short distance into the room, like an exaggerated piece of quarter-round.

This restrains the forest effect. Since there are no over-hanging branches, there isn't much chance of needles dropping into whatever my guests may have in their hands. If what they have in their hands is to be needed, I'll needle it my own way.

But all this is a sort of grey retreat, brought on by the years, from the joyous flamboyance of the Christmas trees of our youngsters' childhood. Then we insisted on the best we could get—and we got it ourselves at Shawinigan.

The trip for the tree was an integral part of the whole festival. Very small youngsters in royal blue snowsuits, with helmets to match and button noses the color of cherries, used to follow me into the woods above the railway track on Stick mountaintain.

We probably looked like an abbreviation of Snow White and very frequently we scrambled and tumbled through a few inches of snow on the way up.

Each of the youngsters would pick a tree, seeking perfection. But we did no cutting until we were on the way down. Then we'd decide which should be taken from the wild land on the railway right-of-way. Finally we'd arrive back at the shack, pretty well soaked, and dragging three trees—one for ourselves and one each for two friends who couldn't get out to chop their own.

Decorating the evergreen, once it was mounted for the livingroom, was a family affair, too. Little people were held up to hang a bauble here and a bell there, and the eldest child was allowed to place the bright glass spike on the tip. It was all very important and the youngsters handled the whole job—even if their parents had to do it over again once the small ones were in bed.

There isn't much chance of me being pinched for stealing a tree off someone's wild land this year—hasn't been for some time. It's a lot easier and cheaper to pick one up at a lot. And there isn't any justification for making a ritual of the evergreen's selection, cutting and hauling to the car. That like the Virginia story, is for little people.

A week away from the Day, the whole thing seems a bit like shadow-boxing, or the adherence to a custom just because it is a custom.

Of course, once the tree's in place and the lights shining, the miracle could occur again, as it has done on previous Christmases. You never know. You never know.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Think Big With Climbers

Climbing plants have more uses than the first thought of hiding or masking some undesirable object.

Apart from their own beauty they are capable, if properly placed, of extending the apparent boundaries of a garden, thus simulating an increase in total area.

Informal wooden fences within a garden can be provided as a foundation for climbing plants, for immediately two aspects are available the two sides of the fence, either north and south, or east and west.

Height and extent will be arrived at by one's own needs and wishes but when the choice of climbing plants is to be made, a few facts must be considered.

Certain plants are equipped with adventitious roots on their stems. These are not, primarily, feeding roots but supporting roots, their apparent function being to take the young growths upward into light and sunshine for the purpose of producing flowers, and ultimately seed. Perpetuation of the species, in short.

It has adventitious roots, increasing the interest and apparent size of one's garden is a fascinating project for the winter season, and a study of the habits of the plants to be employed could well be the first step to success.

Farm Research Lagging Retiring Deputy Claims

Unity, research, and better public relations are needed if B.C. farmers are to progress, a former provincial agriculture official said Tuesday evening.

William MacGillivray, retired deputy minister of agriculture, was being honored at a banquet by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, whose 30th annual convention wound up here yesterday.

He commended Tuesday's resolution that united BCFA with the Farmers' Union of B.C., saying that in the past the case of the farmers was weakened by presentation to government through three different groups.

EACH SINCE

"Each one was sincere in believing it spoke for the grass-roots farmer," he said.

"If there are advantages to this (system), they have never been apparent."

Tuesday, the convention voted to admit the Farmers' Union as a member organization, with four voting delegates and two board members.

This leaves only the Farmers' Institute out of the fold.

Mr. MacGillivray stressed that with a million of B.C.'s 1.6 million population living in urban areas, it is difficult for most people to appreciate the problems of the farmers.

"An effort should be made to present a better image, to tell the story better than we have done in the past," he said.

He also pointed out that farm research is being done at the university and federal government levels only.

He suggested that it was time for the provincial government to sponsor research.

The federal and provincial governments should get together with the university to reassess the situation."

30 YEARS BEHIND

He said that all three are still operating on principles laid down over 30 years ago.

Teachers Not Paid

SAULT AU MOUTON, Que. (CP) — About 200 students at French-speaking Roman Catholic schools were sent home today when six teachers refused to work because they haven't been paid since last Oct. 30.

"Co-operation and integration could have been better. Planning could have been infinitely better," he said.

BCFA president William Martin, of Clinton, presented Mr. MacGillivray with a desk set as a gift from the federation.

At Tuesday afternoon's convention session, Kenneth Kiernan, provincial mines and resources, commercial transport, and recreation and conservation minister, was guest speaker.

DEFENDS MARKETING

He defended regulated marketing of perishable goods, saying it is "essential if the primary producer is going to have anything like a fair chance to recover a reasonable return for his investment, time and energy."

But he added:

"The primary producers, on the other hand, must recognize that you cannot have orderly marketing if the producer on the one hand subscribes to it, and then insists he should be able to go his own way in some particular instance."

"The World's Aircraft said Russia's space program in the last year has not gone with its customary smoothness.

The stepfather, Gordon James McDonald, 35, had his six-month sentence reduced to one month by the British Columbia Court of Appeal after he said he stole $650 to buy toys, clothing and medical care for the boy who is not expected to live another year.

McDonald was released from Oakalla Prison last week. A picture of the boy in McDonald's arms, distributed in Canada by The Canadian Press and in the United States by The Associated Press, accompanied one of the donations.

Police said they have also received donations from Ohio and Windsor, Ont.

Rocket Equality Gained by U.S.

LONDON (AP) — An authori- ploration is both timely and sensitive now that the prospective partners are attaining a measure of equality."

The latest edition of Jane's All The World's Aircraft said Russia's space program in the last year has not gone with its customary smoothness.

The book suggested the Russians had failed to achieve orbital rendezvous with their "space twin" flight.

"By comparison," Jane's said "America's Mercury man - in space program far exceeded its original — more limited—design objectives with the final 22 - orbital flight of Gordon Cooper, while the Mariner 2 space probe sent back invaluable information, if depressing, concerning conditions on the planet Venus . . .

"With the great Saturn booster due to become operational in 1964-1965, the United States will soon be in a position to become far more adventurous in space, and the suggestion that America and the Soviet Union should work together on major projects like lunar exploration is both timely and sensitive now that the prospective partners are attaining a measure of equality."

Gerald Elmer Young stole the cheques in a break-in at John D. Kissinger Jr., 643 Queens, last week. He was arrested by Saanich police as he tried to cash a cheque at Shelburne Plaza.

Before he was caught, Young had already cashed two cheques for a total of $377. He told a city detective after his arrest that he had hidden the money and wouldn't return it.

In court Monday his counsel, Ian Stewart, said this was not correct. The money had been used to pay off debts, Mr. Stewart said.

U.S. CLAIMS FREE FALL RECORD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 13-man U.S. Army and Air Force parachute team leaped from a plane flying 43,000 feet above the California Desert Monday and claimed a world record for a mass free fall.

The defence department said the team, which delayed opening upachutes until reaching an altitude of 2,500 feet, broke a 1961 record held by a nine-man Russian team which jumped from 36,650 feet. The U.S. team's free fall was 41,250 feet—almost eight miles—with their chutes opening automatically 2,500 feet above the ground.

TCA Crash Pilot 'Not in Contact'

MONTREAL (CP) — Richard Bolduc, chief investigator of the jetliner crash at nearby Ste. Therese de Blainville, confirmed Tuesday there was no communication between the control tower and the ill-fated plane before it crashed and exploded Nov. 30, killing all 118 persons aboard.

"We have found no evidence of a May Day signal and nothing to indicate the pilot talked to the tower before the crash," said Mr. Bolduc, head of the transport department's air accident investigation division.

"It would have been unusual if the pilot had called the tower," he said. "When you're fighting to keep a plane under control you don't have time. A split second could mean the difference."

Regarding possible causes of the crash, he said no theory had been ruled out but no conclusions have been reached. "It is still much too early to tell or even speculate."

SHOWS PARTS

Mr. Bolduc spoke at a press conference at the international airport in suburban Dorval where the shattered remnants of the sleek Trans-Canada Air Lines DC-8F are being assembled. The parts are being retrieved from the muddy crater caused by the crash. The site of the disaster is 20 miles north of Montreal.

"We have recovered, by weight, about 55 per cent of the 125,000-pound plane," he said. "The included two engines and part of a third. The fourth motor is still buried."

He said the transport department working closely with the National Research Council and TCA, had reappraised the recovery operation at the crash

Heavy Water New Method Pushed Ahead

TORONTO (CP) — E. D. Loughney, president of British American Oil Company Limited said Tuesday his company is confident of developing a new commercial process for producing heavy water for nuclear reactors.

He said in a statement he was "not surprised, not disappointed" by Industry Minister Drury's announcement in Ottawa Tuesday that negotiations for the construction of Canada's first heavy water plant at Glace Bay, N.S., would continue with Deuterium of Canada Limited.

"As the government was initially informed, BA's work to date, while encouraging, has not progressed beyond the experimental research stage and further work is required to confirm our findings," Mr. Loughney said.

"If we are successful—as we think we will be—in developing a new commercial process, we do not consider it's development will be seriously affected by the government's decision to proceed with a conventional plant."

Break-ins Increase

VANCOUVER (CP) — There were 45 per cent more break-ins in the city last month than in November, 1962, police said Monday, but the number of arrests has dropped by half. The department appealed to the public to report any loitering in residential areas.

MIX DRINKS, DRIVING YOU END UP ON SLAB

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Holiday revelers who mix drinking and driving are more likely to end up on a slab in the morgue than behind bars.

That was the major conclusion drawn by the California Traffic Safety Foundation in a year-long study of traffic victims in the state's eight most populous counties who died within six hours of an accident.

The survey results showed that 53.8 per cent of the victims had been drinking prior to their accidents and "nearly 45 per cent were definitely under the influence" of alcohol.

Almost identical figures were reported for pedestrian fatalities.

The survey also found that 67 per cent of drivers involved in single-vehicle fatalities had been drinking.

GAME APLENTY BUT THEY'RE 'SCARED OF WET FEET'

Cream-Puff Hunters Miss the Fun

B.C. hunters could shoot many more deer and moose than they do, Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan said Tuesday.

"Many more than the number now taken annually by hunters could quite safely be harvested with no detrimental effects to future game populations," Mr. Kiernan said.

This year's kill is estimated at 70,000 deer and 20,000 moose.

Recreation department biologists estimate there are more than 500,000 deer and 300,000 moose in the province.

A departmental official said this year there appeared to be fewer animals in northern moose without upsetting the population balance.

However, Mr. Kiernan's statement does not mean hunting limits will be cut, he added.

In the most accessible areas limits are just about ideal, he said.

"The animals are available, but the hunters don't always seek them out."

"Some of them won't get their feet wet, then complain they didn't bag anything."

The recreation spokesman said.

"Upland bird harvests decreased but no cause for alarm exists as the most affected species are cyclic," Mr. Kiernan said.

"Present low numbers are part of the regular cyclic patterns."

NBC PAYS $13 MILLION FOR FOOTBALL RIGHTS

NEW YORK (AP)—The television rights to U.S. college football games for the next two years have been awarded to the National Broadcasting Company for $13,044,000.

The Columbia Broadcasting System had held the rights for the last two seasons after winning a 1961 bidding competition with an offer of $10,200,000, or $5,100,000 a year. The rights are awarded by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Games will be televised on 13 Saturdays, starting Sept. 12 and ending Dec. 5, plus Thanksgiving Day.

THE SCOREBOARD
BY Harry Grayson

EASTCHESTER, N.Y. (NEA)—The house on the corner of Overlook and Beach is home for the Y. A. Titties—away from home.

It's white clapboard, Cape Cod, in a sedate neighborhood. The only thing that looks rented about it is the bare patch spreading over half the front lawn.

"When we came back this year," sighed Minette Tittle, "the grass was dead."

The Titties will come back again in the fall of 1964, about the time kids start dressing for school, which lies two blocks to the north: Then no more.

Y. A. Tittle of the New York Giants, named last week the most valuable player in the National Football League, sat in the little L-shaped room off the front door and said, "There's no way I can come back here and play after that."

Diane, just turned teen-ager, flitted through the living room. Shirt-tail dragging, 11-year-old Mike slammed down the stairs and out the front door with a football under his arm. On his heels, with a hole at the knees, was Pat, 10.

Outside were Kevin and Eddie and a bunch of other kids in the neighborhood for a pickup game in the empty lot on the other side of Beach.

"The kids," pointed Y. A., "that's why. We're not worried about Mike and Pat. They're still in grade school. But Diane is in the Eighth Grade now. Next year it starts counting toward college. She's a good student, so we think it'll be OK to split up for one year. After that . . ."

Titties Will Stay Home After 1964

He shook his head. The Titties will stay home, which means a low-slung ranch house in Atherton, Calif., on the peninsula south of San Francisco. Unless the Maras, Jack and Wellington, who own the Giants, swing a revision of the educational system, they're out a bald-headed, all-pro quarterback after next season.

Tittle signed a two-year contract last spring. Considering that Y. A. came east in September, 1961, as a 35-year-old fading athlete and successful insurance man who was more curious about New York than anything else, it's surprising that he committed himself for a long period in the first place.

"Every year you play now," he explained, "is like two years when I was in San Francisco. That's what has happened to pro football—the money, the outside income. I'd like to be playing golf when I'm 40 and having people like you over to dinner."

Tittle didn't look as if he was nearing the end of the road as he led the Giants to the Eastern Division title this season. He won the first individual passing crown of his 14-year NFL career, finishing up with a record-breaking total of 36 touchdown passes. The man who will direct the Giants in the NFL final against Chicago Bears on Dec. 29 completed 221 of 367 passes for 3,145 and had only 14 intercepted.

The doorbell rang and the man was from Port Chester and said they had a kid quarterback who threw four touchdowns in the last half of a high school game and couldn't Tittle present an award to him at the team banquet on a Friday night.

"We're not," said Tittle, "allowed to make appearances after Wednesday. Team rule. Couldn't you get some other athlete?"

They Can't Miss Y.A.'s Shiny Dome

"It's got to be Y. A. Tittle," said the man, and left. "They don't know," said Y. A., as the door closed, "there are 500 schools in this area."

"How do they all find us?" asked Minette, a pretty blonde who was Y. A.'s "steady" back home in Marshall, Texas, where they grew up.

They find him because Tittle doesn't bother to have an unlisted telephone. And when Y. A. goes across the street to flip a football with the kids ("Put some zip on it, Mike"), cars pull up like the Lone Ranger with Silver because they can't miss the shiny dome on the passer.

Minette looks at the thick dark hair of Mike and Pat and wonders if they're going to be like Y. A. or his two brothers, who have full heads of hair.

Except that Papa is a celebrity on Sundays, the Titties live like every upper middle-class family in the suburbs, right down to the two cars. One belongs to end Del Shofner, who lives in a city apartment. The other was donated by a friend temporarily. The Titties' car sits in the garage in California.

Y. A. and Minette rake the leaves because they have a passion for yard work. "The people next door," she said, "keep their yard so clean that I'd be ashamed to have our leaves blow over there."

Giants' Playbook Is Family Bible

Many Giants live in Connecticut. The Titties chose this Westchester County community because it's closer. They can drive into New York for dinner in 35 minutes. They frequent the theatre. Every Friday night there's a ritual get-together with the Andy Robustells and the Tom Scotts, of the defensive platoon, at a restaurant in Pound Ridge, Conn.

Minette doesn't talk football because "Y. A. doesn't want me to—he thinks that's man talk." The only way it intrudes into the house is the play book, the family bible that Tittle carries home from practice every night and periodically studies even in bed.

Excitable and emotional as a competitor, he's a calm study at home, a contemplative man who worries about his image. "I'm allergic to sounding bad," he said. "What I want most is the respect of the men I work with."

Diane was at the piano playing a few scales of Chopin's Polonaise. Like any proud father, Y. A. Tittle hovered over her while a photographer took some shots.

"How about something more lively?" he murmured. "None of that Beethoven."

SCORE 250 GOALS AND YOU'RE IN . . .

There's a New Kind of Prestige Club in NHL

By ALEXANDER FARRELL
MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League's once-renowned 200+ goal club is changing its admission requirements.

From now on, said publicity director Ron Andrews Tuesday, 200 goals will be needed for membership.

"It used to be great to have a lifetime record of 200 goals," Andrews said, "but it doesn't mean anything any more."

In these days of the 70-game schedule, almost any NHL forward who manages to stay around for 10 or 12 years can still be listed.

HEADING FOR THE BIG ONE

There won't be much rest over the Christmas season for New York Giants, winners of the National Football League's eastern division crown. They are busy getting ready for big game of year, against Chicago Bears

Canucks Find Balance, See Glimpse of Daylight

By The Canadian Press

The lowly Vancouver Canucks, who faced an almost Herculean task in trying to raise their heads out of the Western Hockey League cellar, saw a glint of daylight Tuesday night.

They combined a tightened defense with some better finishing around the goal-mouth as they edged Portland Buckaroos 2-1.

The victory pushed cellar-dwelling Canucks within two points of the slowly-sinking San Francisco Seals and Portland, both in next-to-last place.

At one time this season, Canucks were eight points behind the next-to-last club and seemed destined to stay in the cellar for some time to come.

The secret, said Vancouver coach Max McNab, is that the team has "finally struck a balance—all lines are scoring." Ron Hutchinson proved the point. His goal, in the dying minutes of the third period, was his 100th Western League marker—and it was the game winner.

Reporting totals provided by the individual clubs, League president Al Leader said Portland recorded attendance of 72,999 for its first 10 home games.

But Leader said San Francisco and Seattle apparently were up from last year, while Los Angeles was down slightly and Vancouver down about 40 percent.

For their first 10 games at home, San Francisco reported 69,316 fans, Los Angeles 65,771, Seattle 40,641, Denver 29,231 and Vancouver 19,313. Denver's attendance was very close to the 30,616 net paid reported for the same period last year at Spokane, which Denver replaced in the circuit this season.

"Our only rough edge is our supposed inability to score at crucial times," said the coach. "This will change. Our defense so far has been more effective than our offense but I don't think it is playing any better."

Reports on Progress

Father Bauer, formerly coach of Toronto St. Michael's College Juniors, asked the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for the chance to ice an Olympic team from Canada's best college players and says the experiment is progressing "not necessarily better than I hoped but better than I had a right to expect."

He has stressed positional play, passing and forechecking since he brought the team together early this fall, playing out of the University of British Columbia where he is a staff member at St. Mark's College.

The team has 12 members from Western Canada, 11 from the East. Bauer will take either 19 or 20 on the tour and drop two or three for the Olympics.

Three members of the team are graduate students and three others will start graduate work after the game. All are handpicked by Bauer and a half dozen played junior hockey under him.

He says they have all given up too much in their sacrifice of a year to Olympic hockey to cause him any significant disciplinary or coaching problem.

The team has almost too many leaders—10 members were captains of their various teams last year—but the player now wearing the captaincy seems to have won it for good.

He is defenceman Hank Akerwall, 26, a thinly-thatched native of Port Arthur, who won U.S. college hockey stardom while taking a science degree at Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

The other top defencemen, both Bauer protégés from Toronto, are Barry MacKenzie, 22, and Terry O'Malley, 22.

The team may be best in goal. Seth Martin, 30, of Trail, B.C., chosen outstanding goaltender twice for his play in world tournaments, will alternate with Ken Broderick, 21, a junior star in Toronto who owns a record as a clutch performer.

Up front the team is led by a strong group of centremen. They include Brian Conacher, 22, of Toronto, son of the late Lionel (Big Train) Conacher, Canada's Athlete of the Half-Century, and Roger Bourassa, 20, who captained Edmonton Oil Kings in their 1962 Memorial Cup victory.

Wingers Paul Conlin, 20, of Kitchener, Ont., and George Swarbrick, 21, of Moose Jaw, Sask., are up directly from junior ranks. Ray Cadieux of Ste. Adele, Que., at 21 already owns two university degrees.

The only player with senior and world hockey experience besides Martin is Bob Forhan, 27, of Newmarket, Ont.

Chabot Wins 10th Straight

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Al Chabot, Prince George, B.C. lightweight, now fighting out of San Jose, won his 10th straight fight with a lopsided decision over Willie Woods of San Francisco in an eight-round semi-main event Tuesday night.

Game club members indicated they would be pleased to have Kiernan serving as full-time recreation minister but felt he should resign one of the two posts.

"We strongly feel that the growing importance of recreation and conservation demands a full-time minister."

Resolutions passed by Victoria sportsmen followed similar action last week by the Nanaimo Fish and Game Club.

Another group of sportsmen Monday night joined in the protests over the dual role of Kenneth Kiernan in the provincial government.

Members of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association, meeting at their Goldstream clubhouse, described Kiernan, who holds the posts of minister of mines and minister of recreation and conservation, as "one man trying to ride two horses."

There was only one negative vote as they passed a resolution opposing the principle of one minister holding two posts with "such incompatible conflict of interests as mining and conservation."

Also passed during the session was a vote of censure against Kenneth Hodgson, president of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs, and Ed Meade, secretary-manager of the Federation, for not opposing the dual appointment of Kiernan.

Game club members indicated they would be pleased to have Kiernan serving as full-time recreation minister but felt he should resign one of the two posts.

"Our membership feels that the government took a great step forward when it formed the department of recreation and conservation," VFGPA said.

TEE TOPICS

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Another Vancouver golf club is fighting for survival. The battle, similar to one that enveloped Shaughnessy, could well decide the future of Langara Golf Club.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, which owns both properties, has informed Vancouver city council that it wants to proceed at once with plans for the subdivision of the 161-acre Langara tract.

The lease under which Langara operates as a public course expires next year. CPR has asked the city for a quick decision on whether it wants any part of the course for park or school lands.

About a year ago, ratepayers turned down a bylaw to buy Langara for $3.8 million. Of those who voted, only 42 per cent favored the purchase.

The fight to save Shaughnessy for public parkland lasted over three years. It ended in defeat, and subdivision plans are now being drawn.

According to reports from Vancouver, members of Vancouver's city council are more sympathetic towards possible purchase of Langara for park. The CPR's notice that it wants to start immediately on plans for a subdivision will undoubtedly force a policy decision from council in a hurry.

The threat to Langara certainly a sad thing, might serve one useful purpose. It could prompt the B.C. government to reply quickly—with action or words—to the brief it received from the B.C. Golf Association about three weeks ago.

The BCGA brief suggested that the B.C. Municipal Act should either be amended or else the government should clearly define the existing act so that golf lands—not improvements—could be placed on a fixed assessment in a category which would make recreational use their highest taxable rating.

There is no doubt that Langara's position as a golf club would have been more secure today had the tax assessments not been increased so greatly in recent years.

If these damp days are causing rust to show up in your golf swing, then call on Nanaimo's Terry Jackson.

Jackson has perfected a living room "driving range." He calls it the "Bimbo Golf Driving Mat." It can be set up in any room in the house "just as long as there's room enough for you to swing a club." Furthermore, he says, it can be set up or taken apart in two minutes.

Jackson began golfing on the Bimbo about two years ago. He decided to put it on the market a few months ago and it might be mentioned that his first two buyers were pros Bill Court of Colwood and Gorge Vale's Joe Pryke.

Jackson took up golf at the age of 50 "in self-defence." His wife, Edna, is well-known in local golfing circles. A member of Colwood, she drives down from Nanaimo at least once a week to play in district events.

"I used to be a fisherman . . . an ardent one. But there was so much golf talk around the house, I had to take up golf," says Jackson.

COACH ARRESTED

Taunting Fan Hit by Stick

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Junior hockey coach Jean-Louis Lacroix of Hull, Que., was arrested during a game here Tuesday night after a teen-age fan was struck across the head with a hockey stick.

Brockville police said Lacroix, 40, was arrested after a third-period fracas in the Ottawa-Hull and District Hockey League game between Hull Hawks and the Brockville Juniors.

Mickey Severson, 16, of nearby Prescott, Ont., suffered head and eye injuries when a stick was swung at spectators who were taunting Hull players from seats around the players' box.

Police said the Hull coach was released after assurance from league officials that he will be in Brockville for a court appearance Jan. 6. No charge was laid immediately but police said Lacroix was advised a charge of assault will be laid today after consultation with the Crown attorney.

COACH BLAMED

They said Lacroix allegedly swung a hockey stick at fans around the bench "during the heat of the game" in which Hull, the second-place team in the eight-team league, was beaten 4-1 by last-place Brockville Juniors.

Police said the fans began taunting the Hull bench and the stick-swinging incident followed.

Bruins Call Rookie Goalie

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League Tuesday recalled rookie goalie Jack Norris from Los Angeles Blades to fill in for their injured regular Ed Johnston.

Norris, 21, of Nonan, Sask., who has played in 11 games for the Blades in the Western Hockey League, allowing 44 goals and turning in one shutout, will fill in for Boston at Chicago Wednesday night and probably at Detroit the next night.

Reichart on Spree

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Bill Reichart rammed home five goals and had an assist as the United States Olympic hockey squad swamped the University of Minnesota Tuesday night 11-3.

Controller James Campbell had a collection of "sweaty sweaters and deflated footballs" wouldn't be much of a tourist attraction.

Hockey on TV Will Continue Says Caldwell

TORONTO (CP)—Spencer Caldwell, president of the CTV television network, predicted Tuesday that National Hockey League games will continue to be shown on home television "where all Canadians can see them."

In a statement he referred to suggestions that televising of major league hockey might be cancelled as "a tempest in a theoretical teapot."

He said he didn't believe a statement attributed to Stafford Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leafs, that home television would disappear by 1968 in favor of showings in theatres equipped with large-screen TV projectors.

"I'm prepared to bet that he said something about the idea—as it was expressed by someone else—being worth looking into," the statement said.

Mr. Caldwell said he would be surprised if Smythe or anyone else connected with big-league sports would take an anti-television position because of the great interest radio and television had generated in sports—especially hockey.

IMPORTANT TO MANY

"This national game of ours is more important in tens of thousands of rural homes across the continent—especially in the cold of the Prairies—than it is for us big-city types who might have the money to buy a ticket to the Gardens or a TV-equipped movie house."

He said if home TV coverage were terminated a chain reaction would result "and heaven alone knows where it might end." Interest in big-league sport would decline with a consequent rekindling of enthusiasm for junior, intermediate and senior amateur leagues.

Mr. Caldwell cited other reasons why he believed home hockey TV would continue:

The television industry needs hockey to boost its Canadian content of broadcasting to comply with Board of Broadcast Governors' regulations;

Professional hockey in movie houses "might not survive" against other kinds of hockey on television;

Radio and television had helped make big-league hockey profitable by bringing it out of the limit of local interest to a broad status "as nation-wide as a mally participation spectator."

'Baker Had Thousands In Cash in a Drawer'

BAKER

Park Hoods Crackdown Promised

Closer supervision of B.C.'s provincial parks was promised Tuesday by Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan.

Speaking at the convention of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, he said that in last season's operation "considerable inconvenience and disturbance to the public using the parks was brought about by the lack of sufficiently close supervision."

"It is obviously pointless to spend substantial sums of money to provide pleasant and convenient campsites for the public, and then allow a few misguided persons to create a public nuisance and thus inconvenience and annoy the campers."

Rules Set Up For School French Classes

Ground rules for introduction of conversational French in Greater Victoria public schools were fixed by trustees Monday.

The decision to set policy was taken even though there are no plans for commencement of the course.

French is permitted in elementary schools at Grade 6 and 7 levels for students of average or above average intelligence. It is compulsory for Grade 8 pupils, except those certain they will not take academic program.

Trustees decided to confine the subject to Grade 7 initially, provided the physical facilities of a school are adequate and the needs of the education department satisfied.

Enrolment would be on a voluntary basis and the instructor would be a regularly certified teacher on full time staff.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators said today they are trying to ferret out where Robert G. Baker got the thousands of dollars in cash a witness testified he kept in his Senate office.

To help them, President Johnson signed an executive order permitting the rules committee, which is carrying on the inquiry, to examine the tax files of Baker, Johnson's protege when the president was Senate Democratic leader.

Senator Carl T. Curtis (Rep., Neb.) said he regarded the testimony about the money as "the big point" at the committee's first public hearings Tuesday in its investigation of Baker's business dealings and allegations of conflict of interest.

Baker, 35, resigned Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year post as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority after questions were raised about whether his outside interests conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

The testimony about Baker's keeping large amounts of cash in a filing drawer in his office came from Mrs. Gertrude C. Novak, trim blonde widow of a contractor who was Baker's partner in the building of posh Carousel Motel at Ocean City, Md.

She told of getting thousands of dollars at a time from Baker for deposit in the Carousel's account, to meet construction costs and operating expenses.

WITHHOLD DETAILS

Committee sources said after the hearing that investigation has turned up one or two possible sources of the cash—or at least part of it—and that

'FOLLOW KENYA AND JAMAICA'

Caouette Plumps for National Flag, Anthem

OTTAWA (CP) — Creditiste Leader Real Caouette said Tuesday Canada should follow the example of newly-independent Kenya and Jamaica in adopting a national flag and national anthem.

He told the Commons one of the first gestures of such countries on attaining independence was to adopt distinctive emblems. It was urgent that Canada follow suit.

Mr. Caouette spoke as the Commons gave third and final readings to a bill changing the name of the National Centennial Administration to the Centennial of Confederation Commission to meet objections by the Quebec government to the word "national" in the old title. The measure, passed on division with Progressive Conservative members voting dissent, now goes to the Senate.

The Creditiste leader also commented on remarks previously by Auguste Choquette (L-Lotbiniere) that Canada has a foreign queen.

Mr. Caouette said he looks on the Queen as Queen of Canada. It also had to be recognized that she had shown herself to have conciliatory attitude and was perfectly bilingual.

He said in 1967 he would be willing to salute the Union Jack when it is flown as the Canadian flag.

astonished that Mr. Pearson had not participated in the debate on the measure. Unless Mr. Pearson repudiated Mr. Choquette's remarks, the conclusion would have to be drawn that the Quebec member's views were those of the Liberal party.

Mr. Pearson, whose name was on the order paper as sponsoring third reading, was in the House at the time but did not speak during Tuesday's debate.

FIRST Negro mayor in Canada is believed to be Dr. S. F. Monestine, 52, elected in Mattawa, Ont. Dr. Monestine, the only adult Negro in the town of 3,340, is a native of Haiti who has been practicing medicine in Mattawa since 1951.

A "CAN'T WAIT" KIND OF GO! with a "why wait" flair for value

Action starts the minute you turn the key in a '64 Oldsmobile. Rocket Action—the kind that's generated by one of Olds' famed Rocket V8s. The count commences at 245 hp—goes all the way up to 330 hp in the Rocket range—and hits a booming 345 in the Starfire V8. Naturally, all this go doesn't just stand around flexing its muscles. It gets together with one of Olds' great transmissions (3-Speed Synchro-Mesh, sporty 4-on-the-floor, Hydra-Matic or new Jetaway automatic) in a manner that really puts the show on the road. If you think all this could spoil your resolution not to buy a new car this year—you're right! But then, where else could you discover the kind of automotive value that Oldsmobile gives; and discover, too, that it all starts at a pleasantly reasonable figure (especially with the new lower-priced Jetstar 88s)? Why not have a heart-to-heart talk with your quality Oldsmobile dealer soon? He'll show you a host of good reasons why you should put yourself in a new Oldsmobile!

JESUS' BIOGRAPHERS

Mark Pieced Together Simon Peter's Account

The apostle Mark's description of the life of Christ is one of direct action, the straightforward thunder of a mighty step on earth. Mark's source was Peter, also a man of direct action. This is the second in a series of articles on the composition of the original stories of Christmas.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Listening to the staid old fisherman, Simon Peter, it sometimes was hard to tell the exact sequence of events. Mark desired to set them down in rightful order, as truly as he could.

Yet much remained strange and overwhelming. Whither the end? And how the beginning?

"My son," the aging apostle said, spreading his arms like twin spars on a mast, "once we had not received mercy, but now we have received mercy." His eyes glowed to mark sat on a three-legged stool, with a waxed tablet on his lap, a stylus motionless in his hand, waiting for Peter to continue.

"We did not follow cleverly devised myths when we made known the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ," he said stoutly. "We were eye-witnesses of His majesty."

The scene was in Rome, in the time of the emperor Nero. "Do not be surprised at the fiery ordeal that comes," Peter said. "If one suffers as a Christian, let him not be ashamed."

Saw Need

Mark realized that ominous portents were abroad. Already many believers had died or been imprisoned simply for "the name's sake." It was this, in part, that gave urgency to completion of the book.

Elders and deacons of various congregations, both when he had been in Antioch and Corinth and now in Rome, had besought him, as assistant to Peter, to record the chief apostle's own account of the time of the Lord Jesus Christ.

It fell to Mark to set down these remembrances for the "followers of the way." Yet a question beset Mark's work—what were the origins of Jesus? From whence did He come?

Peter dwelt on the resultant action, but not on background or explanations.

Surely Peter must have known the derivation of it all. And yet...

The old apostle nodded enigmatically. "God was with Him." He rose abruptly from his feet, a great hulk of a man with untrimmed beard, obviously intent on starting his rounds, still musing aloud. "He went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed..."

Mark followed Peter to the street. Always, it seemed they were on the move.

Peter Blunt

That was the character and habit of Peter, of "Cephas the rock." Impulsive, blunt, demonstrative, a man of tumultuous action—the man who denounced himself as unworthy, the man who tried to walk on water and sank; the man who swore fidelity to Christ only to deny him and return to fishing; the man who jumped overboard and scrambled ashore at sight of the risen Christ.

The year now was in the middle of the first century. While Mark's gospel may have been compiled as early as 40 AD, about 10 years after the Crucifixion and Resurrection, the predominant evidence puts it between 50 and 62 AD.

Dire reckoning stalked those mockingly dubbed the "Christians" or "the third race," neither Jew nor gentile, and the worst was yet to come.

The apostle Paul had been stoned, flogged and kept in chains for two years at the foot of the Caelian Hill. Even before, the apostle James was beheaded in Palestine; Stephen was fatally stoned; Jesus' kinsman, another James, was hurled from a temple wall and clubbed to death. Peter had broken jail.

Yet the tidings spread, penetrating even the imperial household and legions, among freedmen and slaves.

About 350 birds were entered in the two-day show held at Fraser Street Hall.

Judges were Jerry McBride and Paul Bigley.

Show Topped By B. Woolley

A bird owned by Bernard Woolley of Victoria was judged best in Capital City Racing Pigeon Club's annual show Saturday and Sunday.

Best junior breeder was Tommy Thompson, also of Victoria.

About 350 birds were entered in the two-day show held at Fraser Street Hall.

Judges were Jerry McBride and Paul Bigley.

Provident House

Mark himself had not been among the close circle around Jesus, but his mother, Mary Bath-Nabas, a wealthy Jerusalem widow, had provided her large home as a meeting place for the disciples. Mark had been a boy then.

Later, in manhood, he had travelled as an evangelist with Paul and his uncle, Bar-Nabas.

Mark, even with his years of labor for the cause, still depended on Peter for his first-hand narrative of the divine visitation.

The two walked unheeded through Rome's crowded streets.

'Phoney Argument Bought by Court'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Communist party has applauded and the chairman of the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities has denounced a decision overthrowing the party's conviction for failing to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

Travel Costs To Be Paid For Retarded

Parents of mentally retarded children and cerebral palsied victims enrolled at local schools will be given financial aid to cover all or part of transportation costs.

Trustees of Greater Victoria school board noted Monday in assuming the responsibility that many such children are unable to get to and from schools without parental supervision and either car or bus transport.

The board also agreed to pay a sum of money toward cost of educating and training mentally retarded children of kindergarten age authorized to attend Elford Occupation Centre, which is operated by Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded.

There are five such children there now.

NEW BILL 'MISLEADS INDIANS'

OTTAWA (CP) — Two British Columbia MPs said in a joint statement Tuesday the government's legislation setting out terms for an Indian claims commission makes the commission meaningless.

Frank Howard (NDP-Skeena) and Tom Barnett (NDP-Como Alberni) found fault with almost every section of the bill, introduced in the Commons Saturday.

"This is a two-faced attempt to mislead the Indian people into thinking they are going to get a fair deal," Mr. Logan added.

The MPs said the wrongs against Indian land and treaty rights occurred when the Indians could not read or write or keep any records of their dealings with non-Indians.

Policeman Convicted

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal policeman was found guilty of assault Tuesday for striking two men on the head with his revolver. Constable Jules Giroux was ordered to post bond to keep the peace for the next six months. He is to be dismissed from the police department. He served for six years. Evidence showed a brawl developed July 27 when he ordered the two men to circulate. He struck the men with his gun and one suffered a double fracture of the skull.

Willis said that "the Communist party has raised a smoke-screen to make the Supreme Court decision meaningless, and the Court of Appeals has apparently permitted the Communist party to get away with this."

PICTURE OF CONVICTED ALDERMAN

Mayor Orders Film Spoiled

LAFLECHE, Que. (CP) — Police seized a photographer's camera and exposed his film after he tried to take a picture of Alderman Leo Haineault at a town council meeting Tuesday night.

Mr. Haineault was convicted Dec. 10 of accepting a bribe from a local hospital administrator in connection with zoning bylaws. The alderman was sentenced to one year in jail but he has appealed the conviction.

The council meeting was held to determine whether Georges Beaulne should be reinstated as police chief of this community across the St. Lawrence River from Montreal.

Mr. Beaulne was suspended after he arrested the alderman on the bribe charge last July.

The trouble over the camera began when freelance photographer Roger Gendron snapped Mr. Haineault's picture as the alderman stood to ask a question during the meeting.

Friday when a final decision in his case will be made.

After Mr. Haineault's arrest, the council charged that Chief Beaulne's action was unjust and suspended the officer.

Mayor Girard would not comment on the seizure of Mr. Gendron's camera and film.

The photographer said:

"It was an open meeting. They saw me come in with the camera but they didn't say anything then."

The picture was to be used in connection with the council meeting and not with Haineault's trial.

FOR TRACK PROJECT

Board Willing To Cover Creek

Greater Victoria school trustees Monday showed willingness to cover Bowker Creek in order to make more room for a proposed running track at the rear on Oak Bay Junior and Senior Secondary Schools.

The stand was taken after protests by Trustee David Logan that putting a track where first suggested would mean the loss of a playing field.

Oak Bay Senior students have saved more than $8,000 from school fairs, which would be added to $7,500 promised by Victoria Gyro Club to initiate a track. It would be shared, along with other playing fields at both schools, between the total enrolment.

IF REASONABLE

Trustees agreed to culvert the creek provided the cost is reasonable.

The schools and Gyro Club would assume the full cost of construction and the school board would pay for maintenance, and supervise planning and building.

Trustees tried three times to word a resolution covering the proposal.

EXPENSIVE

Trustee Peter Bunn said the proposed covering of Bowker Creek would prove "very expensive." The position of the track is an internal matter between the two principals, he said. "They are the captains of their own ships. We should not make them do something which is out of their range."

"I would never be party to an arrangement that would mean the loss of a playing field," Mr. Logan added.

The MPs said the wrongs against Indian land and treaty rights occurred when the Indians could not read or write or keep any records of their dealings with non-Indians.

Ottawa Might Defend B.C.

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department has given some preliminary thought to possible strengthening of Pacific Coast defences in light of the Russia-China rift, informed sources say.

However, it is far from any decision on redeployment of the armed forces within Canada, the sources say. These forces now are largely concentrated in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes.

Suggestions that the government give more thought to the state of Canada's Pacific defences have been made in both the Commons defence committee and the Commons external affairs committee.

The first suggestion to this effect was made by Harold Winch, New Democratic Party member for Vancouver East. A similar proposal was advanced later by Wallace Nesbitt, Progressive Conservative member for the Ontario riding of Oxford.

Mr. Nesbitt said he raised the subject because of these factors: The Communist Chinese attack on India last year and the threats against Malaysia by Point, Vancouver Island, with-

Indonesia. He asked whether out causing any casualties and any thought has been given to with virtually no damage. U.S. Army commander in a defence treaty "with some of our friends" in the Pacific area.

External Affairs Minister Martin said this would be a matter of government policy. But Canada shared with other Commonwealth countries concern about any situation which would threaten the integrity of Malaysia.

Canada has provided military equipment, including three types of transport aircraft, to Alaska at the time, said this station in British Columbia about the possibility of a Japanese invasion of the U.S. by way overseas and an armored train of Alaska: "They might make equipped with anti-aircraft guns it, but it would be their grand patrolled the 90 miles of CNR children who finally got there; track between Prince Rupert and by then they would all be and Terrace.

American citizens anyway."

DECEMBER IN VICTORIA

Deck the Halls With - Daffodils

BY MARGE GILROY

April in Paris? No—it's December in Victoria.

And already the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, have beat St. Nick on his rounds.

Over a quarter of a million King Alfred daffodils are now blowing their trumps on the Saanich peninsula.

These are the trumpets people will be seeing in almost every city from here to Halifax between now and Christmas.

Geoff Vantreight who has been experimenting with daffodil bulbs for 25 years now claims to produce the largest number of early blooms in all of Canada.

Daffodils now in bloom were brought into the hot-houses in November. First bloom appeared Dec. 7.

Starting out with two acres of daffodils which his father gave him when he was 14 years old he now has over 100 acres planted with bulbs.

Last year he sold a total of 12,000,000 blooms.

Toronto, he said, is his biggest market. When the temperature drops to 15 degrees below zero he keeps his fingers crossed. Blooms are shipped in insulated boxes and picked up in heated trucks, but even at that it can be risky—and costly. This grower paid out $60,000 in air freight last year.

Holly and mistletoe may still be the favorites for Christmas but daffodils are beginning to run a close second.

Arthur Mayse

...at night we fetched the Christmas decorations down from their basement shelf, and as always, there was the sense of a small miracle accomplished.

A lot can happen in the chop and change of a year. The risks are many. But we find ourselves still a family, all present and accounted for, no hurt suffered that couldn't be mended.

So down come the boxes from spider heaven and into them we delve until my prostate workbench is all gleam and glitter with what is surely the loveliest trove a family can acquire.

We will squirrel around with outdoor lights later, and there are door-wreaths to be made, and a fat little Santa Claus to shellac against the weather before he mounts our roof. For tonight, though, it's task enough to sort the indoor decorations.

Those that Win packed are neatly laid away, each iridescent globe snug in its compartment with hanger attached, even some of last year's tinsel rewound on its card.

This isn't parsimony, just one of the minor traditions which a family acquires. One war year, the shiny strips weren't to be had for love or money, so we cut our own out of silver foil.

That could happen again, Win insists, not really believing a word of it, and salvages a prudent handful just in case.

Anyways, we feel that Christmas trees, like brides, should wear something old and something new.

Our own trees are a medley of the years. We sort and mend, and though we are not backward-looking people, pooh amiable among our memories of shared Christmases.

It's months since we've spoken or even thought of Lucky, the little black cocker who was our first dog. We had no children then, and spoilt him.

One Christmas he appropriated a gay ball meant for some niece or nephew, and we hadn't the heart to recover it. It was his constant plaything until a tooth pierced it. The rush of air set him sneezing, and no other ball could ever tempt him.

Then came Ron, and Sue, and our Christmases were complete.

They drift down to see what we're doing. Ron watches indulgently while I fumble with a crimson globe-goblin fruit, if ever there was—and its ransom in his pocket.

Bus carried it off to build a splendid Christmas around it, with himself as Santa Claus . . . not just to his own, but to many a needy Saanich family.

A dazzling tree, that one! Still, when we came home to a house scented by the balsam cut from our wild acre, we decided we had our own tree better.

It was part of our lives, a spangle of memories varied as its ornaments old and new. And that, I think, is what any family's Christmas tree should be.

Land Auction Ends Dream Of Big Hotel

A promoter's dream of establishing a high rise hotel at Douglas and Hillside collapsed today in announcement that the site will be sold at a sheriff's auction to satisfy court judgments.

The site was occupied by the Monteray Restaurant until it was destroyed by fire in October, 1961.

Its owner, Maurice Winecure, later said he was negotiating with several prospects for construction of a very large hotel.

Instead, the land will go up for public auction—at an upset price of $104,000 at 11 a.m. Thursday in the Victoria Law Courts office of Sheriff E. Wilkinson to pay mortgage company debts.

Brentwood Break-In

Brentwood Coffee Shop on West Saanich Road was broken into overnight Tuesday and some chocolate bars and soft drinks were stolen.

Central Saanich police said the total loss would not be more than $10. Entry was gained by an insecure window, police said.

TOPICS of the DAY

Two drivers involved in an accident on Carey Road Tuesday night were unhurt by the crash, but one was so badly injured in the ensuing fight that he had to be admitted to hospital.

Saanich police said one car ran into the back of the other after it suddenly stopped. One of the drivers got out and attacked the other with a wheel wrench.

The second driver defended himself with a wrecking bar but got the worst of the fight. He is reported today in fairly good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital with bruises and a cut head.

Esquimalt Women's Institute members will meet in the Jubilee Hall on Fraser Street on Thursday at 2 p.m. for a social and games afternoon.

Winter once more bypassed Victoria as the threat of snow leaves Vancouver Island.

Bill Mackie of Gonzales weather office reported this morning that Victoria can look forward to a few days of warmer temperatures but cloudy skies.

Warm air from the Pacific will continue to warm the coast but cold air hangs over the rest of the continent.

Average temperature is around 40 degrees but in Prince George they are shivering at one below zero.

A Victoria photographer has been awarded a New York world fair's medal at a Kodak Co. world-wide color contest in Toronto.

James A. McVie, 2171 Bartlett, was selected as a Canadian winner in a west coast youth category.

His picture will become one of 300 color slides to be featured in the Kodak exhibit at the 1964 New York World Fair.

SPENDING CHRISTMAS in Victoria on spiritual mission is Dr. Michael G. Rochester from Ontario, speaking Dec. 23 and 26 on Bahai's faith. Private talks with Victoria Bahai community are planned Dec. 23 at 3 p.m., and public meeting Dec. 26 at 8 p.m., in Bahai's centre, 1005 View, on subject "The World Crisis—Mankind's Opportunity."

Moving pictures of impaired drivers?

Victoria law enforcement officials are not completely sold on the idea.

They were asked to comment on a Kitchener magistrate's proposal to take moving pictures of impaired drivers for use as evidence in court, so far the system has been used only in the U.S.

Most drivers, it's reported, plead guilty after seeing the films.

"It is not strictly true that photographs do not lie," said Attorney General Robert Bonner.

There would have to be safeguards, he said.

"There is the regular problem of introducing photographic evidence at any time. Police must prove the circumstances to the court in every case, and there would be no basic difference here than for any other kind of photographic evidence."

Daffodils are bustin' out all over, at least at Geoff Vantreight's and it isn't even spring . . .

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1963—PAGE 21

Wait-and-See Water Policy Called Wise

Manager Happy With Lee Decision

City Hall officials today chucked agreement with Central Saanich Council's decision to drop its emergency appeal for a signed water agreement by Dec. 31.

Reeve Gordon Lee described his council's latest manoeuvre as "breaking off negotiations" it launched two weeks ago because the city did not appear to be interested in reaching an agreement.

Unofficial comment at City Hall was that was fine with Victoria as Central Saanich did not appear to be interested in paying for the water it was drawing from Elk Lake.

The site was occupied by the Monteray Restaurant until it was destroyed by fire in October, 1961.

Its owner, Maurice Winecure, later said he was negotiating with several prospects for construction of a very large hotel.

"This is a very wise action for them to take because it now gives both of us the time and opportunity to make realistic appraisals of the situation.

"This basically was my recommendation to the city waterworks committee earlier this week."

Reeve Lee did not describe the Central Saanich decision to abandon its urgent plea for immediate action as a retreat. This is how he put his council's decision to stop discussing the matter in public:

"What was once a somewhat academic difference of opinion had degenerated into a very undignified brawl on the part of City Hall."

MADE TROUBLE

He admitted Central Saanich decided to refuse to disclose financial information on its waterworks system after promising it to the city. He indicated the refusal was taken on the grounds that City Hall had leaked information about the Central Saanich plea and had stirred up trouble by allowing it to become public.

Reeve Lee dismissed a suggestion by Ald. Geoffrey Edge that the city cut off Central Saanich's water supply to force it to live up to its promise.

"It would create a very interesting situation," was his only comment.

But the decision to stop talking publicly about the Central Saanich request for a signed agreement only underlined the municipality's basic problem.

It developed a water distribution system several years ago using Elk Lake for its supply but never obtained any agreement from the city permitting it to draw water or providing a lease on the pipelines from the lake to its pumping station.

Man Drowns in Slip Off Harbor Log Boom

A 54-year-old man slipped off a log boom to his death in the frigid, oily waters of the Inner Harbor this morning.

He had gone out to work on the boom without wearing a life jacket.

Dead is Arnold Graham, 765 Audley, a part-time employee of McCarter Shingle Co. Ltd., 2418 Rock Bay.

Mr. Graham was working alone on the boom, only 25 feet from shore, when he apparently slipped into the water.

His body was discovered by a RCN diver lying in 15 feet of water beneath walk planks that led from the boom to the shore. His life jacket was found hanging in the boom man's shack.

Mr. Graham was a deckhand on the C.N. vessel Canora and he worked for McCarter Shingle Mill in his spare time. He was a boom man in earlier years and was considered experienced.

SPLITTING LOG

His work mates surmised that he may not have worn the life jacket this morning because it would have hampered him in the particular job he was doing — splitting a big log.

Mr. Graham started work on the log when he turned up at the mill at 8 this morning. About 9 o'clock a friend and fellow worker, Eddie Hayden, 3698 Shelbourne, went out on the log slip and noticed he was gone.

Geologist John Ricker, 25, son of W. E. Ricker, acting chairman of the federal fisheries research board, will attempt a world record by scaling the 24,451 Malubiting Mountain in the Himalayan Karpash range.

EIGHT MEN

The expedition, to consist of eight men, will be headed by Dr. Ernest F. Roots, a 40-year old Ottawa geologist.

Mr. Ricker, now in New Zealand, is well known by Victoria climbers.

IN ANTARCTIC

A. W. Lash, former president of the Victoria section, Alpine Club of Canada, said he has done some extensive climbing in the past spring.

Geologist John Ricker, 25, son of W. E. Ricker, acting chairman of the federal fisheries research board, will attempt a world record by scaling the 24,451 Malubiting Mountain in the Himalayan Karpash range.

Navy Divers Help

A four-man team of RCN divers, under CPO Colin Drew, searched for his body. It was found by LS Wesley Nehring of HMCS Naden.

McCarter's Shingle Mill was shut down for the day after the accident.

Mr. Graham is survived by the widow and one daughter.

Ask The Times

Please tell me if it is against the law to drive a car in B.C. without liability insurance. M. F.

A. It is not against the law except for persons between the ages of 16 and 21.

Q. Would you please tell me what the B.C. government pays hospitals per day for each patient? H. D.

A. Average per day payment for standard ward care is $22 of which the patient pays $1.

Per day rates range from $15 to $26 depending on services available and number of occupants in relation to the number of beds.

WHY NOT USE MOVIES AS EVIDENCE IN COURT?

Action, Lights, Camera on Impaired Drivers

Moving pictures of impaired drivers?

Victoria law enforcement officials are not completely sold on the idea.

They were asked to comment on a Kitchener magistrate's proposal to take moving pictures of impaired drivers for use as evidence in court, so far the system has been used only in the U.S.

Most drivers, it's reported, plead guilty after seeing the films.

"It is not strictly true that photographs do not lie," said Attorney General Robert Bonner.

There would have to be safeguards, he said.

"There is the regular problem of introducing photographic evidence at any time. Police must prove the circumstances to the court in every case, and there would be no basic difference here than for any other kind of photographic evidence."

"The problem of staged evidence of this sort would have to be gone into in some detail," the attorney-general said.

"It is a matter of procedure for the law enforcement agency," Magistrate William Custer said. "Then it would be up to the court to decide if the evidence should be accepted."

"You may get an ungracious answer from the court, but the combination of unsteadiness and slurring of speech give a much more complete indication of impairment, or non-impaired," Chief Pearson said.

"A smart lawyer could run a movie of Charlie Chaplin alongside and say, 'look here's a man who does it for a living.'

"We will watch the Kitchener experiment with interest and take a second look at it," Chief Pearson said.

"There is nothing to stop them from taking such pictures, but I haven't studied the matter," he said.

First Branch Met 59 Years Ago

Mrs. E. Edwards welcomed the 110 members who attended a recent diocesan board meeting of the woman's auxiliary of the Anglican Church, held in St. Barnabas parish hall.

She reminded the gathering that it was now 59 years since the first branch was organized west of the Rockies.

Mrs. F. A. Goodwin presided; Mrs. L. Longden took morning prayers and Mrs. S. Chan gave the Bible reading.

Two new life members were welcomed, Mrs. G. Walker of St. Mary's and Mrs. H. Pitt-Turner; All Saints, View Royal. Treasurer, Mrs. H. R. Dickets announced that the pledge accepted for 1964 is $7,730. She reported a balance of $10,878 and a total in the care for the elderly fund of $4,665.19.

Report given by Miss M. Lucas, Comox Deanery, showed a successful workshop given with Mrs. N. W. Life, Mrs. J. H. Newham, Mrs. L. E. Small and youth worker Miss Gillian Clarke taking part. It was also announced that isolated branches were being revived by Rev. Ian Baird, Alert Bay.

Other reports were given by Mrs. J. A. Andrews, Dorcas work and Mrs. G. Jarvis, church furnishings. A Christmas pageant was conducted by Mrs. Newham and a literary service taken by Canon B. T. Page.

SHOPPING GUIDE

New Era of Convenience At Your Very Fingertips

By PENNY SAVER

Are you a culinary artist who all too often finds her work literally "going down the drain" because hubby or guests arrive late for dinner?

This year, why not follow Penny's advice and invest in a hot tray?

Trays enable you to keep food hot for hours on end without risk or worry that food will lose any of its flavor. They allow you to cook more leisurely, to prepare meals in advance and serve them when convenient.

No more disappointments for hubby when he comes home late from work, or for guests who like to linger over pre-dinner conversation. Your dinner will keep its peak of flavor perfection until everyone is ready.

Price ranges from $8.95 up, according to size of tray. Made of shatterproof glass, trays have automatic, thermostatic control and heat to 260 degrees within three minutes. Larger trays have hot spots which are 40 degrees hotter than the rest of the tray and are ideal for keeping your coffee hot.

They come in a variety of styles and are trimmed with European teak or highly polished chrome. All have plastic legs.

What do you put on these unconditionally guaranteed trays?

Any dish, platter, casserole, carafe or oven-to-table cookware. Those with large flat-bottomed surfaces are especially recommended.

Something else Penny found which will add to your holiday meal serving is a cleaner and tarnish preventive for silver serving dishes.

Seven-ounce jar of silver foam and eight-ounce jar of tarnish preventive are now selling at the special rate of $2.98.

Foam combines washing and polishing, removes tarnish stains and is not harmful to silver or your skin.

By using the foam first, only a small amount of preventive is needed to keep your silver clean from four to 10 months.

If you would like to enter into a new era of convenience, call Penny at 382-3131.

A variation of the traditional Yule Log so popular with French Canadians.

It Is Souche de Noel

The traditional Yule Log 30 to 35 minutes. Cool 10 minutes, before removing from pans.

When cakes are cold, cut into two layers. Spread jam or jelly between layers to form a four-layer cake. (If desired, cut a slanting slice off top layer to give the effect of a diagonally-cut tree stump). Place cake on large serving plate or tray and ice with butter cream icing.

BUTTER CREAM ICING

Dissolve 1 teaspoon instant coffee in $\frac{1}{2}$ cup boiling water. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar and heat until sugar dissolves, then cook rapidly to thread stage (230 degrees F.). Let stand until cold. Cream 1 cup butter and gradually beat in the syrup until light and creamy. Spread top of cake with about one-quarter of the icing. Melt 1 square unsweetened chocolate, beat into remaining icing and ice sides of cake. Extend icing at base of cake to resemble tree roots. Roughen surface of sides to resemble bark. Mark "growth" rings on top of cake with a toothpick dipped in a little chocolate icing. Decorate base of cake with the small "mushroom" meringues add a decorative touch at the base.

SOUCHE DE NOEL

Half cup butter, $\frac{1}{4}$ cups sugar, 3 eggs, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon vanilla, $\frac{1}{2}$ cups sifted pastry flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons baking powder, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk, jam or jelly.

Use two 6-inch round fruit cake pans or two-inch layer pans. Grease pans and line bottom with waxed paper.

Cream butter, add sugar and cream well together. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Sift together dry ingredients and stir into creamed mixture, alternately with the milk. Turn batter into pans (230 degrees F.) for 30 minutes, then turn off heat and leave in closed (350 degrees F.) until done, oven until meringues are cool.

"MUSHROOM" MERINGUES

Make a meringue of one egg white, 4 tablespoons fruit sugar and a few grains of salt. Drop small amounts of form balls of varying sizes on a cookie sheet covered with ungreased paper. Dust tops lightly with a cocoa. Bake in a very slow oven (250 degrees F.) for 30 minutes, then turn off heat and leave in closed (350 degrees F.) until done, oven until meringues are cool.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Why Grow Older Looking? Lose Your Double Chin

There are strategic areas in aging which require special care if they are not to make us appear older than we are. As a matter of fact, some very young women have one or more of these age signs.

First, let's consider the double chin. Sometimes this is the result of poor posture. If you have been in the habit of ducking your chin into your neck, stop it! Also the muscles under the chin have a tendency to shorten as a woman grows older.

There are two schools of thought as to whether or not to stretch these muscles with special exercises. I belong to the stretching school. The following is a good stretching exercise.

Simply sit or stand tall. Lower your head backwards as far as you can or wait until you feel the muscles under your chin pull. Now lower your chin to your chest and continue.

Weight affects your chinline. If you are overweight you will probably have a double chin, or two, and a blunder jawline. If too many pounds are factors in your case, a loss of weight will do the job. You can speed the process with the following exercise.

In London

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh K. Henderson of Victoria visited British Columbia House in London, England, and signed the register there. Also added to the register recently were the names of Mr. and Mrs. David Aitken of Lake Cowichan.

Attend Wedding

Among the many out-of-town guests in the city to attend the recent wedding of Miss Linda-Ann Hall and Mr. Jack William Howes were Mr. and Mrs. A. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. L. Caldwell, all of Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. G. Addison and Mr. and Mrs. L. Benson of Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. R. Tuttle of Surrey, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Ganef of Vancouver.

Out-of-Town

Out-of-town guests at the recent Waller-Cheeham wedding included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Waller, from Kingston, Jamaica; Mr. and Mrs. J. Moon and Mr. and Mrs. J. St. Amand of Shawinigan Lake and Mr. and Mrs. R. Ainscough of Vancouver.

Signs Register

Mrs. F. M. Brody is the only Victorian to sign the register recently in British Columbia House, San Francisco.

Here for Winter

Several out-of-town visitors have decided to spend the winter months at Cedarwood Court Motel in Sidney. They include Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Backus of Durham, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. George MacMillan of Maple Creek, Sask., and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rejnor of Saturna Island, B.C.

Wed on Mainland

Mr. and Mrs. John Olsen, 899 Esquimalt Road, announced the wedding of their daughter, Audrey Dianne Britton, to Mr. John James Saam, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. Elder of Richmond, B.C. The marriage took place last Saturday in St. Luke's Church, South Vancouver. Rev. R. Ragg officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The newlyweds will make their home at Richmond.

Arrive Saturday

Among Victorians who will be arriving to spend the Christmas holidays in the city are four officer cadets from Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., who arrive on Saturday. They are Officer Cadet Mervyn Lougheed-Goodey of Linden Avenue; Officer Cadet Peter Child, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Child of Sea View Road; Officer Cadet James Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Skinner of Garden Street, and Officer Cadet Anthony Archibald, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Bowden of Linkleas Avenue.

'THE DAY I REMEMBER'

Didn't Miss a Tree One Bit!

By PAT DUFOUR

Christmas trees twinkle from scores of Victoria homes this week. But, the Christmas Day that stands out in the memory of Miss Kathleen Agnew was minus this traditional decor.

This was not because she was living "in the middle of nowhere." In fact, the Christmas Day that she recalls most was when she and her brother were children and lived with their parents in Montreal.

"In those days in eastern Canada, Christmas trees were non-existent. Everything outside was frozen stiff."

Not that those childhood Christmases were dull, far from it!

"We always had a marvellous time. The family invariably went to my grandparents' place in Guelph, Ont., for the holidays.

"This meant a train ride that was the height of adventure for my brother and myself. There were three stops at least, with each adding to the excitement."

Climatic conditions may have "tabooed" the traditional tree

Looking back, Miss Agnew feels that her grandmother must have been one of the most proficient organizers to have been born.

"My grandparents had six sons. Each of them was married, with a family. All of us descended on them for Christmas and grandmother enjoyed every minute of it."

"I can still picture us all sitting around the huge dining-room table. Everything went beautifully. Mind you, my grandparents had well-trained servants but it still took a lot of preparation on grandmother's part."

And, if Jack Frost cheated

Miss Agnew and the other small guests from enjoying the wonder of a Christmas tree, there were compensations.

"Think of all the skiing and tobogganing we had! We never had time to miss the tree!"

Childhood Christmas days spent in Eastern Canada are the most memorable for Miss Kathleen Agnew.

but nothing else was left out of the day's festivities.

"We'd all hang our stockings up on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day was wonderful. The aroma of turkey and plum pudding filled the house."

Musical Art Society Annual Christmas Tea

Velvety pink polsettias with gold and green foliage and pink-gold Yule logs holding tall pink candles, created a seasonal effect at annual Christmas tea and program of Victoria Musical Art Society.

The tea, open to members and their friends, was held in the Empress Hotel ballroom last Saturday afternoon.

Program included songs by Vera Barclay's children and junior choir. Mrs. Barclay conducted and pianist was Miss Barbara Pridham.

Society president, Mrs. H. Thirwall was hostess for the afternoon and assisting her in receiving guests were Mrs. A. H. Sheard and Mrs. S. G. Watts.

Presiding at the silver tea urn were Mrs. R. H. Adams, Mrs. R. Adamson, Mrs. D. R. Abbott, Mrs. B. Clarke, Mrs. Jean Boyd, Mrs. J. Burley, Mrs. T. Edwards, Mrs. W. Ellis, Mrs. J. Garden, Mrs. H. Gilliland, Mrs. H. Hickman, Mrs. A. W. Johns, Mrs. P. P. Lovric, Mrs. C. L. Lambertson, Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Mrs. A. Macdougall, Mrs. Norma MacDonald, Mrs. E. V. Pollock.

Mrs. C. W. Paulin, Mrs. D. Roxborough, Mrs. L. M. Shore, Mrs. T. G. Sewell, Mrs. Lily Wilson, Mrs. R. Wallace, Mrs. R. Williston, Mrs. R. Wilde, Mrs. W. H. Yardley, Misses Mary Adamson, Wendy Cox, Charlotte Crawford, Ann van der Voort, M. Hall, Frances Jordan, Kay Paulin and Noel Smith.

Decorations were planned by Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Sheard. Special guests included Mrs. R. B. Wilson, wife of Victoria's mayor, also Dr. Rodger Manning and Mrs. J. Durand, honorary presidents of the society.

Bride Makes Own Wedding Gown

A full-length strapless gown, made by herself, was worn by Linda-Ann Hall recently when she exchanged marriage vows with Jack William Howes.

The gown of delustered satin was styled with a lace overblouse with lily-point sleeves and a bell-shaped skirt, that extended from the waistline into a train.

Her veil misted to shoulder-length from a large rose headpiece and she carried white chrysanthemums and carnations.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, 3333 Linwood Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Raymond Howes, 4040 Carey Road. Mr. Hall gave his daughter in marriage.

CHURCH CEREMONY

Canon George Biddle officiated at the ceremony at St. John's Anglican Church, which was decorated for the occasion with baskets of white chrysanthemums and carnations at the altar.

John Bell, uncle of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love" during signing of the register.

Identical gowns in apricot tones of shot taffeta with overblouses to match were choice of matron-of-honor Mrs. Jack May, Revelstoke, and bridesmaid Miss Judith James. Their headpieces

DEAR ABBY...

Don't Sleep In!
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a respectable woman of 59. While being interviewed for a job as live-in cook and housekeeper for a well-to-do elderly gentleman who lives alone in a 12-room house, he asked me if I snored! He said he does not wish to be disturbed while he is sleeping. What does this have to do with my qualifications as a cook and housekeeper? JOB HUNTING

DEAR HUNTING: Obviously his sleeping quarters are within hearing distance of yours. And if YOU do not wish to be disturbed while YOU are sleeping, I suggest you work days and go home nights.

DEAR ABBY: We are three sisters, 19, 22 and 24, so we aren't exactly children. Our problem is our mother. She is 47, a wonderful person, and attractive. She has been a widow for eight years, and has been going with the same man for six years. He is married and claims he has been trying to get a divorce all this time, but can't. (Is this possible?) Meanwhile, he is living with his wife, and mother can't even be seen in public with him. We doubt if this man will ever be free to marry her. Mother says she "loves" him, and one day he will marry her. Two of us girls are married, and when the last one goes we don't want mother to be left alone. What can we do?

"BEVEL" SIDING

Nature has endowed the giant red cedar of British Columbia with every quality a home owner could ask for in a versatile construction material with its "built-in" weather resistance, insulation value, working ease and, above all, inherent beauty.

Western Red Cedar is the traditional choice of architects everywhere for every application. The attractive grain and warm colors of this fine wood blend beautifully with any home style, modern or traditional—in any setting, urban or rural.

Skindiver Left to Sink Or Swim

Skindiver Rod Palm slipped alone into the sea off Ogden Point at about 5 p.m. Tuesday "just to see what I could see."

When he came back 15 minutes later to where he left his paddle board it was gone.

"I swam about a mile back to shore, went home (to 86 Dallas) and then went down to Fisherman's Wharf. I thought some fisherman had stolen it," he said.

He couldn't find it, but when he got back to the house, he found city police waiting for him with the paddleboard which had been towed to shore by a passing fisherman.

"I was kind of mad," said Rod.

"That's the second time that's happened. It'll be like day I'll be down there in the boy who cried wolf — some trouble, and no one will do a thing to help me."

Rod was wrestling an octopus while his board was being towed away.

He didn't get the creature, but last September he took the trophy for biggest octopus at the third annual octopus grapple off Saxe Point Park. He pulled in a 47-pounder.

Underground Wires Supported by Mayor

COURTENAY—Mayor William Moore thinks utility companies should be made to run their cables and wires underground.

He agreed with a group of residents who complained that some streets in the city are a mass of wires and poles.

One citizen said: "There are five poles in front of my house. Now they want to run poles behind. This is a bit too much."

WINNIPEG (CP)—Plans for a new Western Canada chartered bank, Canadian-owned and described as a "grass-roots development built on the deposits of the public," were announced here today.

James Coyne, former governor of the Bank of Canada and one of the organizers, said notice of application for incorporation of the Bank of Western Canada has been placed in this week's Canada Gazette.

It is hoped the charter will be approved by Parliament early in the new year.

While the initial impetus is being provided by a Toronto financial group, Mr. Coyne said at a press conference, "it is intended that Western Canadians will have an opportunity to acquire a majority of the shares and provide a majority of the directors."

Head office and first branches will be in Winnipeg. When these are established, branches will be opened in Vancouver and "as soon as possible" in other cities in Western Canada.

Mr. Coyne could not give a definite timetable.

"We will take one step at a time," he said.

The bank will endeavor to have the long-settled desire of western Canadians to have a bank of their own with its head office in Western Canada," Mr. Coyne said.

The Toronto participants are expected to provide organizing facilities and experience in the operation of deposit - receiving and investing institutions and in the financial field generally."

The bank will make no attempt to compete for the accounts of large corporations, Mr. Coyne said. It will provide the usual financing services, invest in federal, provincial and municipal government bonds, government - insured national housing act mortgages, and make personal loans and commercial loans to small businesses.

All loans and investments will be made "as far as possible in the same areas as deposits are received."

An agency will be maintained in Toronto for money - market dealings. It is hoped to open regular banking operations later in Ontario and perhaps other parts of Canada.

Names of officers and provisional directors will not be announced until the petition is presented to Parliament.

COUNCIL BANS TRUCKS ON BUSY CROSS ROUTE

Central Saanich Council Tuesday banned the use of Saanich Cross Road by loaded trucks as a safety measure for children who attend school in the area.

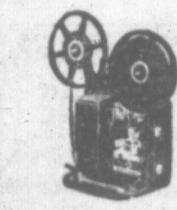

Saanich Cross Road runs from Central Saanich Road to East Saanich Road to Telegraph Road. Council's decision followed a petition from residents requesting action to stop loaded trucks from using the road as a route to Patricia Bay Highway.

The Aroma Was There First

The B.C. Federation of Agriculture is concerned about the public image of manure.

At its 30th annual convention here Tuesday, it passed a resolution defending a farmer's right to use it anywhere on his property, regardless of complaints from residents of newly-developed subdivisions nearby.

The convention asked the province for laws preventing the prosecution by municipalities of farmers who transport, spread, or otherwise handle manure on his own land.

"Manure and manure handling are a necessary part of farming," says the resolution introduced by the Vancouver Island Poultry Producers' Association.

"Farmers were on their land prior to any subdivisions which may now border on their land."

Duncan IWA Hits Training Program

DUNCAN—The Duncan local of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC) has joined the Vancouver local in attacking the union's job training program.

Weldon Jubenville, president of the 4,000-member local 1-80, said his local has notified the IWA regional office it cannot accept the program in its present form.

Syd Thompson, president of the 7,000-member Vancouver local 1-217, has attacked the program and sharply criticized regional president Jack Moore and secretary-treasurer Fred Fieber for supporting it.

Both locals are informing Forest Industrial Relations spokesman for most coast employers, that their members cannot accept the plan.

VOTE ASKED

Mr. Jubenville said the program, which would provide training and upgrading for millwrights with full pay during training, does not provide adequate job protection for present millwrights and improvers.

Mr. Thompson called for a vote of the entire BC membership of about 35,000 on the program. Mr. Jubenville said he will suggest that Mr. Moore call a meeting with officers of the eight coastal locals involved.

$756 Call by Ump Cheers Logger

NANAIMO—Christmas arrived early Tuesday for logger James Wright.

He received a cheque for $756 from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Last summer Wright was laid off because of the fire season. He applied for unemployment insurance but before his claim could be processed he was sent to hospital for several weeks.

The commission ruled that he could not receive benefits because he was not available for work.

Local 1-80 of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC) first unsuccessfully appealed Wright's case locally. Then it took before an umpire in Ottawa.

The umpire agreed that Wright was entitled to payments because he was laid off before he became ill.

New Sewer Study To Follow Plan's Rejection

Central Saanich council next year will be asked to approve a study of installing a sewer trunk line from Brentwood to the east side of the municipality.

Reeve Gordon Lee's Tuesday announcement followed receipt of a letter from the provincial pollution control board turning down an application for permission to dump treated sewage in Brentwood Bay.

There was strong opposition in the district to the proposed scheme.

In its letter the board stated it was "strongly in favor" of installing sewers in the Brentwood area.

But it added it was not satisfied that the present proposal "is the most expedient or a permanent answer to the problem."

It suggested that a study be made of dumping treated sewage on the east side of the municipality.

Central Saanich council next year will be asked to approve a study of installing a sewer trunk line from Brentwood to the east side of the municipality.

'RETREAT TO WEAKNESS'

U.S. Aid Cut Irks Johnson

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A major pronouncement in President Johnson's first speech before the United Nations is his declaration of war against poverty, pledging that the United States will do its "full share" in the peaceful revolution against the misery and despair that confronts one-third of all mankind.

Yet even as Johnson prepared his speech, the House of Representatives voted to reduce U.S. foreign aid spending this year to $2,800,000,000—well below the $3,600,000,000 previously authorized and sharply below the $4,500,000,000 the late President John Kennedy had sought. Johnson described this as a "retreat into weakness" for the U.S.

The Senate appropriations committee voted Tuesday to restore $500,000,000 of the House cut, but this still leaves the total far below the original request and the mood of the House in ignoring the administration's plea for more funds appears to undercut the foundations on which Johnson's pronouncements must rest.

Trying to Hold the Line

Johnson is attempting to hold the line on U.S. defence spending, even to the point of occurring in military-base shutdowns, placing more manpower in the unemployed pool. And the Soviet defence budget is being reduced slightly with more emphasis placed on chemical and other production to help overcome domestic shortages in food and consumer goods.

In the past, the U.S. administration tended to sell its foreign aid program to Congress on the basis that the aid is needed to prevent a lot of impoverished countries from turning to communism in a desperate struggle for survival. The theory was that a man with a full stomach would be less likely to be a Communist.

However, as American fear of Soviet attack recedes and as the prospects of war are reduced, some elements of the American argument in favor of foreign aid become ungenuine.

The argument now heard with greater frequency is that the U.S. shouldered the foreign aid burden long enough; it is time the wealthy countries in Europe help overburdened countries themselves show more incentive to overcome political and economic deficiencies at home.

Patriarch Confirms Trip to Meet Pope

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople (Istanbul), spiritual leader of world Orthodoxy, will visit Jerusalem next month to see Pope Paul in the first meeting between the heads of the Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches in history.

This official announcement was made in Damascus today.

POPE PLANS INDIA VISIT

NEW DELHI (AP) — Pope Paul has accepted an invitation to visit India for his second break with the tradition against papal travel abroad, officials said Tuesday night.

The Pope will make a pilgrimage to the Holy Land Jan. 4-6, ending a period of 150 years in which papal travel has been restricted to Italy.

Officials at the Vatican declined to confirm the report, but Vatican circles said there was a good chance Pope Paul might attend the International Eucharistic Congress in Bombay next November.

Just Five More Days

EACH year at Christmas-time The Times makes an appeal for underprivileged children overseas, through the good offices of the Unitarian Service Committee.

Since these campaigns began a decade ago, generous readers have donated close to $100,000. This money has gone to provide barley gruel, powdered milk, dried codfish and medical supplies for youngsters in Korea, India, Hong Kong and Greece.

We are grateful to our readers for their warm support. It is evident that they share with us the belief that we Canadians, living in our affluent society, denied very few creature comforts, should pause at this time to think of the impoverished, the cold, the sick and the hungry in far-off lands.

Now just five days remain before we send our annual Christmas Eve message to that dynamic little lady, Lotta Hitschmanova, advising her of the response of Victorians to the 1963 Korean Kiddies appeal.

As of today, the fund has passed $7,700. We hope to realize $10,000.

This hope is summarized in the anonymous Christmas greeting—or is it a prayer?—discovered in Europe at the end of the Second World War:

"We wish you bread,
A pair of shoes.
A shelter, warm and bright;
Fit work to do,
The truth to know
And Peace, throughout the night."

Won't you help?

KOREAN KIDDIES' FUND

Duncan Youths Sing For Korean Suppers

Last week 150 students in Duncan sang for their "kumye." Pronounced koo-may, it means supper in Korea.

That is exactly what the students did, they sang for Korean suppers.

They were the Festival Singers of Mount Prevost School and choirs from Duncan Elementary and Queen Margaret's Girls' School. They chose Korea as most in need of their proceeds this year which totalled $56.01.

NOT FORGOTTEN

This Christmas the children in Korea will not enjoy the feast of food and gifts enjoyed by Canadians but they will know they are not forgotten.

Not only are other children thinking about them, but they are doing something to help.

Alvin and Carol are two other youngsters in Victoria who are sharing their Christmases with Korean kiddies.

They wrote: "We would like to go and have breakfast with Santa but mummy said how would you like to give your breakfast to some little boy and girl in Korea?" So we are sending $2 for two little children in Korea."

10 BREAKFASTS

That $2 alone will provide more than 10 breakfasts for Total two friends across the sea. If you would like to share your Christmas with Korean youngsters send your contribution to the "Korean Kiddies' Fund," care of the Times, 2631 Douglas, or leave a donation at the Bank of Montreal, main branch, Yates and Douglas.

Acknowledgment of donations will be made in a daily list published in the Times and official receipts will be sent later from USC headquarters.

Also needed is more warm clothing which is being accepted at Dowell's Cartage and Storage, 1117 Wharf St.

CZECH HOCKEY TEAM PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

First visit to B.C. of Czechoslovakia's national hockey team is expected to draw a sellout crowd at Memorial Arena tonight.

They will play Canadian Olympics at 8:30 p.m.

Only a few hundred seats were unsold at noon today. "At the rate they are going," an Arena spokesman said, "it should be a sellout."

Because of fire regulations there will be no standing room admissions sold.

The Czechoslovaks were due in Victoria at mid-afternoon after being delayed at Vancouver because of fog.

The team opened its 11-game tour of Canada Tuesday night in Calgary by defeating a Southern Alberta intermediate all-star team 7-4. (See story page 12.)

Negro Students Storm Moscow's Red Square

MOSCOW (AP) — Several hundred Negro students from Ghana and other African nations stormed into Red Square today right under Premier Khrushchev's office windows, fought with police and tried to break into the Kremlin.

The students said they were protesting the fatal stabbing of a student from Ghana by a Russian last Friday.

The Negroes broke past barricades into Red Square, where Russians march on May Day and on the day of the October revolution. But the scene was more reminiscent of the wild days of revolution in 1917.

The students bore a sign showing a knife plunged into the head of an African. Another sign declared: "Friend today, the devil tomorrow."

"Moscow is a second Alabama," shouted one student.

The students fought police all the way to Red Square from the Ghanaian Embassy a mile away, where they first gathered.

STORM BARRICADE

They stormed over a barricade of Soviet trucks at the entrance to Red Square fighting police on top of the trucks and underneath.

The big gates of Spasky Tower, the main entrance from the Kremlin shut into Red Square, banged shut as students rolled over police opposition and tried to get into the Kremlin.

They stormed past the office of Khrushchev. They were separated from his office by the big red brick wall of the Kremlin. Whether he was inside his office was not known.

Police apparently at no time used their guns to control the students. Instead they wheeled out loud speakers appealing for them to go home.

"Red Square is closed," one of the sound trucks blared out. But the students paid no attention.

Fifty police blocked off the area around Spasky Gate in Red Square. Other police circulated through the square, some with portable loud speakers, asking the crowds to clear the square.

CLEAR OUT SHOPPERS

Shortly after 2 p.m., crowds of shoppers who had swarmed into Red Square were driven out along with foreign correspondents.

People continued to pile into adjoining streets, never having seen an angry demonstration of foreigners against Russians.

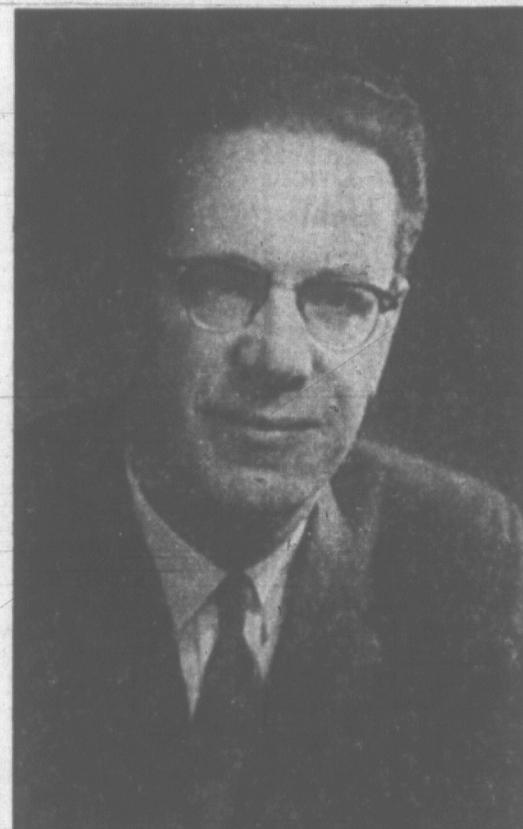

The students remained in the square for a time and were reinforced later by some 200 more who came, apparently carrying a message of protest. They came from Moscow and the ministry of higher education.

I'VE GOT A JOB FOR YOU TO DO'

MONTREAL (CP) — Two marine engineers testified today that Hal C. Banks, president of the Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.), told them in 1957 of plans to have a rival trade union organizer beaten up.

The testimony came at Banks' preliminary hearing on charges of conspiracy to assault Capt. Henry Francis Walsh.

Capt. Walsh, formerly of Welland, Ont., and now of Montreal's suburban Chomeday, was a business agent for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild (CLC) when he was beaten up Aug. 18, 1957, in an Owen Sound, Ont., hotel parking lot.

Two Owen Sound police constables testified today that blood was running from Walsh's nose and his clothing was rumpled and soiled following the incident.

Capt. Walsh did not appear at today's court session as he is confined to his home with an abdominal injury, the Crown said.

Richard Greaves, 52, one-time officer of the National Association of Marine Engineers (CLC), swore he was in the SIU chief's office on St. James Street here in August, 1957, and that Banks said:

"There's a guy who's been running off his mouth about this union—I've got a job for you to do."

Greaves testified that Banks said that he's been around taking my meals, he asked me to get his son a job and now he's up there calling me all kinds of a gangster and thug.

Gordon Denies 'Deal' With U.S. on Interest

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Gordon emphatically denied in the Commons today a suggestion that Canada and the United States have a "gentlemen's agreement" to keep interest rates in Canada close to the level of rates in the U.S.

However, he said in reply to questions from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that it is the Canadian government's policy to keep the spread between Canadian and American interest rates as narrow as possible.

"And I hope it will be the policy to keep the spread as narrow as possible in the months ahead," M. Gordon said.

Mr. Diefenbaker noted a recent report in the New York Times to the effect that Canada is expanding its money supply because of a gentlemen's agreement with the U.S. to keep Viet Nam.

People continued to pile into adjoining streets, never having seen an angry demonstration of foreigners against Russians.

Deck the Halls With—Daffodils

By MARGE GILROY

April in Paris? No—it's December in Victoria.

And already the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, have beat St. Nick on his rounds.

Over a quarter of a million King Alfred daffodils are now blowing their trumps on the Saanich peninsula.

These are the trumpets people will be seeing in almost every city from here to Halifax between now and Christmas.

Geoff Vantreight who has been experimenting with daffodil bulbs for 25 years now claims to produce the largest number of early blooms in all of Canada.

Daffodils now in bloom were brought into the hot-houses in November. First bloom appeared Dec. 7.

Starting out with two acres of daffodils which his father gave him when he was 14 years old he now has over 100 acres planted with bulbs.

Last year he sold a total of 12,000,000 blooms.

Toronto, he said, is his biggest market. When the temperature drops to 15 degrees below zero he keeps his fingers crossed. Blooms are shipped in insulated boxes and picked up in heated trucks, but even at that it can be risky—and costly. This grower paid out $60,000 in air freight last year.

Holly and mistletoe may still be the favorites for Christmas but daffodils are beginning to run a close second.

Daffodils are bustin' out all over, at least at Geoff Vantreight's and it isn't even spring . . .

Arthur Mayse

Last night we fetched the Christmas decorations down from their basement shelf, and as always, there was the sense of a small miracle accomplished.

A lot can happen in the chop and change of a year. The risks are many. But we find ourselves still a family, all present and accounted for, no hurt suffered that couldn't be mended.

So down come the boxes from spider heaven and into them we delve, until my prosaic workbench is all gleam and glitter with what is surely the loveliest trove a family can acquire.

We will squirrel around with outdoor lights later, and there are door-wreaths to be made, and a fat little Santa Claus to shellac against the weather before he mounts our roof. For tonight, though, it's task enough to sort the indoor decorations.

Those that Win packed are neatly laid away, each iridescent globe snug in its compartment with hanger attached; even some of last year's tinsel rewound on its card.

This isn't parsimony, just one of the minor traditions which a family acquires. One war year, the shiny strips weren't to be had for love or money, so we cut our own out of silver foil.

That could happen again, Win insists, not really believing a word of it, and saving a prudent handful just in case.

Anyway, we feel that Christmas trees, like brides, should wear something old and something new.

Our own trees are a medley of the years. We sort and mend, and though we are not backward-looking people, we are amply among our memories of shared Christmases.

It's months since we've spoken or even thought of Lucky, the little black cocker who was our first dog. We had no children then, and spoilt him.

One Christmas he apprised a gay ball meant for some niece or nephew, and we hadn't the heart to recover it. It was his constant plaything until a tooth pierced it. The rush of air set him sneezing, and no other ball could ever tempt him.

Then came Ron, and Sue, and our Christmases were complete.

They drift down to see what we're doing. Ron watches indulgently while I fumble with a crimson globe—goblin fruit, if ever there was—and its

Land Auction Ends Dream Of Big Hotel

A promoter's dream of establishing a high rise hotel at Douglas and Hillside collapsed today in announcement that the site will be sold at a sheriff's auction to satisfy court judgments.

The site was occupied by the Monterey Restaurant until it was destroyed by fire in October, 1961.

Its owner, Maurice Winecure, later said he was negotiating with several prospects for construction of a very large hotel.

Instead, the land will go up for public auction—at an upper price of $104,000—at 11 a.m. Thursday in the Victoria Law Courts office of Sheriff E. Wilkinson to pay mortgage company debts.

Brentwood Break-In

Brentwood Coffee Shop on West Saanich Road was broken into overnight Tuesday and some chocolate bars and soft drinks were stolen.

Central Saanich police said the total loss would not be more than $10. Entry was gained through an insecure window, police said.

A dazzling tree, that one!

Still, when we came home to a house scented by the balsam cut from our wild acre, we decided we liked our own tree better.

It was part of our lives, a spangle of memories varied as its ornaments old and new. And that, I think, is what any family's Christmas tree should be.

Two men are believed responsible for theft of $20 from Mohawk Service Station, 3005 Douglas, Tuesday afternoon when an attendant was serving their car.

William Griffith went outside to attend to the car and left the men in the office. When they had gone he noticed that a $20 bill had also gone from the cash register.

Christmas at HMCS Naden this year will be mostly for the children.

A total of 370 children, some of them physically handicapped, others from needy families, have been invited to three parties at the RCN Pacific command base—today, Thursdays and Friday.

Members of the Naden band arranged the first two parties. The third will be looked after by members of the officers' qualifying course, and personnel of the physical and recreational training centre.

Moving pictures of impaired drivers?

Victoria law enforcement officials are not completely sold on the idea.

They were asked to comment on a Kitchener magistrate's proposal to take moving pictures of impaired drivers for use as evidence in court. So far the system has been used only in the U.S.

Most drivers, it's reported, plead guilty after seeing the films.

"It is not strictly true that photographs do not lie," said Attorney General Robert Bonner.

There would have to be some detail," the attorney-general said.

It is a matter of procedure for the law enforcement agency," Magistrate William Ostler said. "Then it would be up to them to persuade the court that the evidence should be accepted."

There is nothing to stop them from taking such pictures, but I haven't studied the matter," he said.

Chief W. A. Pearson of

Saanich felt a motion picture should have a sound track, or that a sound recording alone would be of more value than a motion picture alone.

"You may get an unat-ttractive picture, which is not what we want," he said.

Man Drowns in Slip Off Harbor Log Boom

A 54-year-old man slipped off a log boom to his death in the frigid, oily waters of the Inner Harbor this morning.

He had gone out to work on the boom without wearing a life jacket.

Dead is Arnold Graham, 765 Audley, a part-time employee of McCarter Shingle Co. Ltd., 2418 Rock Bay.

Mr. Graham was working alone on the boom, only 25 feet from shore, when he apparently slipped into the water.

His body was discovered by a RN diver lying in 15 feet of water beneath walk planks that led from the boom to the shore. His life jacket was found hanging in the boom man's shack.

Mr. Graham was a deckhand on the C.N. vessel Canopus and he worked for McCarter Shingle Mill in his spare time. He was a boom man in earlier years and was considered experienced.

SPLITTING LOG

His work mates surmised that he may not have worn the life jacket this morning because it would have hampered him in the particular job he was doing — splitting a big log.

Mr. Graham started work on the log when he turned up at the mill at 8 this morning. About 9 o'clock a friend and fellow worker, Eddie Hayden, 3698 Shelburne, went out on the log slip and noticed he was gone.

Mr. Hayden looked for him in the mill and then went down on the boom. He raised the alarm when he saw Mr. Graham's brown cap floating on the water.

Geologist John Ricker, 23, son of W. E. Ricker, acting chairman of the federal fisheries research board, will attempt a world record by scaling the 24,451 Malubiting Mountain in the Himalayan Rakpooh range.

EIGHT MEN

The expedition, to consist of eight men, will be headed by Dr. Ernest F. Roots, a 40-year-old Ottawa geologist.

Mr. Ricker, now in New Zealand, is well known by Victoria climbers.

IN ANTARCTIC

A. W. Lash, former president of the Victoria section, Alpine Club of Canada, said he has done some extensive climbing in B.C.

Mr. Ricker also took part in an Antarctic expedition.

The expedition to the uncharted Malubiting peak will cost each member about $3,200.

The party is scheduled to be assembled at Rawalpindi May 9, when it leaves for Gilgit in the Himalayan foothills.

NAVY DIVERS HELP

A four-man team of RCN divers, under CPO Colin Drew, searched for his body. It was found by LS Wesley Nehring of HMCS Naden.

McCarter's Shingle Mill was shut down for the day after the accident.

Mr. Graham is survived by the widow and one daughter.

Boy Held After Shooting In Home

DELBURN, Alta. (CP)—An 18-year-old boy was arrested Tuesday night after a wild outbreak of shooting in the boy's home, police said today. Both his mother and father fled to safety.

Police said the boy was committed today for mental examination. No charges have been laid.

Dutch Gov't Purges KLM Directors

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—All 14 directors of KLM Royal Dutch Airlines have been asked to resign, Transport Minister Joannes Van Aartsen told Parliament today. The minister's statement was apparently in reply to criticism of KLM losses in 1963, totalling an estimated 55,000,000 gilders (about $15,190,000). The government owns 70 per cent of the company.

Just Five More Days

EACH year at Christmas-time The Times makes an appeal for underprivileged children overseas, through the good offices of the Unitarian Service Committee.

Since these campaigns began a decade ago, generous readers have donated close to $100,000. This money has gone to provide barley gruel, powdered milk, dried codfish and medical supplies for youngsters in Korea, India, Hong Kong and Greece.

We are grateful to our readers for their warm support. It is evident that they share with us the belief that we Canadians, living in our affluent society, denied very few creature comforts, should pause at this time to think of the impoverished, the cold, the sick and the hungry in far-off lands.

Now just five days remain before we send our annual Christmas Eve message to that dynamic little lady, Lotta Hitschmanova, advising her of the response of Victorians to the 1963 Korean Kiddies appeal.

As of today, the fund has passed $7,700. We hope to realize $10,000.

This hope is summarized in the anonymous Christmas greeting—or is it a prayer?—discovered in Europe at the end of the Second World War:

"We wish you bread,
A pair of shoes.
A shelter, warm and bright;
Fit work to do.
The truth to know
And Peace, throughout the night."

Won't you help?

CALGARY EDUCATOR NAMED TO HEAD UVIC

Negro Students Storm Square

MOSCOW (AP)—Several hundred Negro students from Ghana and other African nations stormed into Red Square today right under Premier Khrushchev's office windows, fought with police and tried to break into the Kremlin.

The students said they were protesting the fatal stabbing of a student from Ghana by a Russian last Friday.

The Negroes broke past barricades into Red Square, where Russians march on May Day and on the day of the October revolution. But the scene was more reminiscent of the wild days of revolution in 1917.

The students bore a sign showing a knife plunged into the head of an African. Another sign declared: "Friend today, the devil tomorrow."

"Moscow is a second Alabama," shouted one student.

The students fought police all the way to Red Square from the Ghanaian Embassy a mile away, where they first gathered.

STORM BARRICADE

They stormed over a barricade of Soviet trucks at the entrance to Red Square fighting police on top of the trucks and underneath.

The big gates of Spasky Tower, the main entrance from the Kremlin into Red Square, banged shut as students rolled over police opposition and tried to get into the Kremlin.

They stormed past the office of Khrushchev. They were separated from his office by the big red brick wall of the Kremlin. Whether he was inside his office was not known.

Police apparently at no time used their guns to control the students. Instead they wheeled out loud speakers appealing for them to go home.

"Red Square is closed," one of the sound trucks blared out. But the students paid no attention.

Fifty police blocked off the area around Spasky Gate in Red Square. Other police circulated through the square, some with portable loud speakers, asking the crowds to clear the square.

CLEAR OUT SHOPPERS

Shortly after 2 p.m., crowds of shoppers who had swarmed into Red Square were driven out along with foreign correspondents.

People continued to pile into adjoining streets, never having seen an angry demonstration of foreigners against Russians.

The students remained in the square for a time and were reinforced later by some 200 more who came, apparently carrying a message of protest. They made their way up to Spasky gate, where a Kremlin official came out and said a delegation of 10 would be received by the ministry of higher education.

RED CHINA LONE WOLF ROLE HIT

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said today that Red China's "aggressive, lone wolf" foreign policy is more and more threatening to the world and that any change in relations with the United States must come from Peking.

But, Stevenson told a news conference in which he summed up the General Assembly which closed Tuesday night.

The monolithic Communist world is full of cracks and diversity no longer is the monopoly of one group."

I'll Meet Anyone — Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said today he is willing to meet with any world leaders—obviously including Soviet Premier Khrushchev—anytime he believes such conferences would be "fruitful and productive."

Johnson was asked at a press conference to discuss his attitude toward a possible early meeting with Khrushchev. He replied with the statement of willingness to engage in promising talks—a number of which he already has arranged with leaders of Canada, West Germany, Britain, Italy, and Mexico.

Continued from Page 1 Judge Clearihue said it is expected Dr. Taylor will be consulted in advisory capacity between now and July, when he will be able to move his wife and family of two, a son and daughter, to Victoria.

Dr. Taylor received his bachelor's and master's degrees and doctor of philosophy at the University of California. He was on the economics and political science faculty at University of Toronto 1951-1960, when he went to Calgary.

For two years he was the founder-editor of the Canadian Journal of Public Administration, prior to which he had been with University of Toronto and the Kaiser Corporation in California.

Dr. Walter Johnis, president of the University of Alberta at Edmonton, said Dr. Taylor's shift to Victoria "should prove a very interesting association."

Dr. Johnis said it would take a lot of careful study before a successor could be appointed and gave no indication when a successor would be named.
